

Radel, Eight Democratic Aldermen Win GOP Holds Supervisors Board by 17 to 15

Denning Is Tied, Says The Score Rochester Now Is Republican

All returns were not in late today, but indications are that the Republican Party retains control of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors by a slim 17-15 margin.

The staff at the board was busy at press time going over reports received and anxiously awaited others from distant points in the county.

Rochester Goes GOP

The Town of Rochester, considered a Democratic stronghold, went over to the Republican column when A. Richard Terwilliger defeated Burton C. Marshall by 761 to 680.

Towns dropped by the Republicans to the Democrats for the supervisors posts were Esopus, Plattekill and Gardiner.

Voters favored playing bingo in New York State, but defeated the proposed change of present county government to the administrator system.

A tie was reported in the Town of Denning between Harold A. Cole (R) incumbent, and Herbert L. George (D).

Two Retain Posts

Two Republicans running for countywide offices were victorious and retain the offices they hold at present.

Lawrence D. Craft, Ellenville, defeated Christopher D. Morris (D), Kingston City, 9,111. Francis J. McCordle (R), Kingston, defeated Dr. Jacob Moss (D), RFD No. 3, for coronor by 7,690.

The Democrats had Liberal Party endorsement.

Favor Bingo

Amendment No. 3 on bingo won a favorable "Yes" vote by 4,373.

Local Question A calling for a change of county government to the administrator system lost by 2,635.

The town of Esopus fell from Republican control through election of Roger Mable (D) over F. Sterling Potter, who was running for the post now held by Edward Eckert.

Other Results

Results reported for other towns were:

Gardiner—George Majestic (D) elected over Richard Borcharding (R).

Hardenburgh—Reginald Todd (R) elected over Henry Christian (D).

Hurley—Charles Relyea (R) elected over J. Joseph Carroll (D).

Town of Kingston—Leo Staudle (R) was unopposed.

Lloyd—John J. Gaffney (D)

Wagner Polls Largest N.Y. Mayor Majority

NEW YORK (AP)—Democratic Mayor Robert F. Wagner won a second term last night by 920,000 votes—largest majority ever rolled up for a mayor in the history of the nation's largest city.

The son of the late New Deal senator, Robert F. Wagner Sr., amassed 1,507,342 votes to 587,440 for Republican Robert K. Christenberry, a hotel executive backed in the campaign by President Eisenhower. Wagner got almost 72 per cent of the mayoral votes.

The size of Wagner's victory was being studied in political circles for possible national implications.

Democratic Gov. Harriman was quick to say it reflected voter disillusionment with "the form of Republicanism you see in Washington" under President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon. Other Democratic leaders spoke in similar vein.

The triumph also raised the question of whether Democratic leaders would call upon Wagner to strive for higher office although he has said the "God willing" he will serve out his four-year term as mayor.

Wagner captured every one of the city's five boroughs and ran particularly well in Manhattan's predominantly-Negro Harlem section.

Political circles had awaited the Harlem outcome with special interest to see whether its normal Democratic majorities would be reduced by the efforts of Democratic Gov. Orval Faubus of Ar-

Democrats Gain 5 Mayors in State

ALBANY (AP)—New York Democrats today emerged victorious in yesterday's mayoral election with a net gain of five city halls, and continued control of the state's two largest cities.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner routed the GOP's Robert K. Christenberry in New York City.

The Democrats also appeared to have won in Buffalo, where former City Judge Frank J. Sedita held a 61-vote margin—narrowest in the city's history.

The GOP lost control in nine upstate cities, eight to the Democrats, and one to a Liberal, Victor L. Corsall, who won a four-way race in Oswego.

Net GOP Loss Six

In turn, the GOP ousted Democrats in three cities—Hornell, Peekskill and Tonawanda. Counting the defeat by Corsall, the GOP's net loss was six.

Michael H. Prendergast, the Democratic state chairman, claimed "smashing defeat" of the Republicans. His GOP counterpart, L. Judson Morhouse, countered that the contests were decided primarily on local issues and personalities. Morhouse also put part of the blame on the Russians' Sputniks and "some concern over economic pressures."

Democratic candidates took over in Amsterdam, Canandaigua, Corning, Kingston, North Tonawanda, Glens Falls and Johnstown.

First in 44 Years

A Democrat—Richard Bortoff—was elected mayor for the first time in Canandaigua's 44-year history as a city.

Donald B. Bellinger will be Johnstown's first Democratic mayor in 15 years.

Esopus, Woodstock Register Upsets; Mable and Mrs. Geertsema Are Elected

Two sharp upsets were noted in elections in neighboring townships on Tuesday—Roger Mable (D) as supervisor of the town of Esopus and Mrs. Tobie Geertsema (Ind.) as councilwoman of the town of Woodstock.

Only three other Democratic supervisors have been elected in the Town of Esopus in almost 60 years—George House in 1910, Holt Winfield in 1918 and Daniel Freer in 1928.

Mable defeated his Republican opponent, E. Stirling Potter, in a close race by a vote of 1179 to 1150—a margin of 29 votes.

The town of Esopus usually votes about two to one in favor of the Republican slate.

Since World War 2 only one Democrat has been elected to office in that township. Joseph Zoda was elected superintendent of highways in 1947.

Mable said today that he felt "very grateful" to the voters and that his election gave him a "great deal of personal satisfaction." He felt that a lot of people in the

GOP Retains Control in State Senate

ALBANY (AP)—Democrats gained a new seat in the state Senate in yesterday's election but the Republicans retained firm control of both houses of the Legislature.

Democrat Owen M. Begley of Schenectady won a Senate seat that had been held by a Republican.

Party control of seats involved remained unchanged in five other off-year, legislative contests held because of death or resignation of incumbents.

21 Seats Now

Election of Begley, a former Schenectady mayor, will increase to 21 the Democratic contingent in the Senate. The Republicans hold 37 seats.

In the legislative contests yesterday, Begley defeated Republican Harold M. Van de Car in the 38th district (Schenectady - Schoharie Counties).

Democrat Julian B. Erway defeated Republican Francis Carroll for state senator from the 36th district (Albany County).

Brooklyn Victory

Jeremiah B. Bloom, Democrat-Liberal, defeated Nicholas J. Panzino, Republican, for a Senate seat in the 12th district, Brooklyn.

Republican John J. Conway defeated Democrat Charles M. Carroll and Liberal David C. Whittaker in the 2nd Assembly District, Monroe County.

Williams in 5th Time In Saugerties Sweep

The entire Saugerties town Republican slate, headed by incumbent Supervisor Peter M. Williams, was reelected Tuesday by a substantial margin.

Supervisor Williams was chosen for a fifth term, defeating former village patrolman Joseph Zibella, Democratic candidate, by a plurality of 1,157. Polling the largest number of votes, Williams received 2,644 to Zibella's 1,487.

Two years ago Town Clerk William J. Ferman led the ticket with 2,577 against the only woman candidate, Loretta A. Doris, who only polled 966 votes.

Ferman, a resident of the village, defeated Harry Carle, of Malden, 2,628 to 1,446, for the office of town clerk.

Edwin Van Wart of the village, GOP candidate for collector, received 2,541 to 1,477, garnered by his Democratic opponent, John J. Kaminski of the village.

Kaminski is town Democratic chairman.

Republican Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of the village defeated Robert K. O'Bryan of Barclay Heights, 2,633 to 1,402.

Development Plan Is Ready for Ulster Town

A $19,000 town development plan, ranked top priority by State Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson, will be turned over to the Town of Ulster, Tuesday, Nov. 12, at 9:30 a. m. at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall, Dickinson's office in Albany revealed today.

The plan will enable the town to chart its present phenomenal growth on a sound, long-range basis. It was launched by the State Commerce Department and Town of Ulster officials on a "crash" one-year basis to cope with the impact on the area of IBM, the Thruway, the new Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge and rapid residential growth.

Usually Takes Two Years

An urban planning project of this scope normally requires two years for completion, Dickinson said today.

The Town of Ulster will be the first of nine New York State communities to receive a completed master plan within a one-year period, he said. Catskill, Monticello, Peekskill, Oswego, Oneida and the town and village of Massena are developing two-year community plans.

Officials to be Present

The town development plan will be formally submitted to the State Commerce Department and the Town of Ulster by planning consultant Frederick T. Clark of Rye, State Commerce officials on hand to receive the completed project will be John H. Nixon, director of the division of economic development and Harold P. Kaulfuss Jr., associate planning technician.

Town Supervisor Percy Bush will accept the master plan on behalf of the community.

Contracts for the planning project were signed with the State Commerce Dept. Nov. 30, 1956, and this August.

Payment Plan

Gov. Averell Harriman has designated the department to administer the urban planning assistance program which is provided for in the Federal Housing Act of 1954. The Town of Ulster paid $4,750 of its $19,000 planning program with the state contributing an additional $4,750. The Federal Government provided $9,500.

Supervisor Bush announced that all maps, charts, graphs and development plans contained in the master plan will be on public display at the Grange Hall throughout the day on Nov. 12.

The project will be presented to Town of Ulster residents at a public forum at the hall at 8 p. m. on Nov. 12.

Mayor for 48 Years

BEREA, Ky. (AP)—C. C. Hensley will become Berea's second mayor next Jan. 1, when 92-year-old John L. Gay steps down after 48 years in the post.

Gay declined to seek re-election, saying he had held the office "about long enough" and was "getting about old enough to step down."

Hensley lost to Gay in the mayoral race four years ago but yesterday beat Marshall E. Vaughn, 482 votes to 237.

Victory Is Sweep for City Hall Kaye, Klein Are In; Bingo Passes

Kingston's Democratic Party made political history with its greatest victory yesterday, despite appearance of the new Economy Party on the ballot.

For the first time, the party swept the city by taking all top posts, by gaining an 8-5 advantage in the Common Council and by electing nine out of 13 supervisors.

Edwin Radel, incumbent Third Ward Alderman, was elected mayor or on the Democratic-Liberal ticket over his Republican opponent, Bernhardt S. Kramer by 1,024 votes, and his running mate, Harold L. Kaye, also with Liberal Party votes, topped Republican William S. Keyser by 1,036.

Unexpected Victory

Most unexpected victory of the day was the election of Aaron E. Klein, Democrat-Liberal candidate, over City Judge Raymond J. Mino, Republican incumbent, by 104 votes.

The Economy Party scored 2,702 votes for Worthington L. Rider, its candidate for mayor, and 2,527 for Charles M. Rinscher, who ran for alderman-at-large.

It showed its biggest strength in the 12th ward where alderman candidate Howard L. Fox polled 616 votes as against 575 for Louis A. Suhrhoff, Democrat-Liberal party candidate. Fox's total, however, was 302 under the 918 polled by Richard K. Wood, Republican.

Bingo Passes by 1,166

Kingston voters favored the bingo amendment by 1,166 votes. It voted down Question One, on the constitutional convention by 2,510 votes, and disapproved Local Question A on adoption by the county of the administration form of government by 1,026 votes.

Radel scored 5,202 Democratic votes and 705 Liberal Party votes for a total of 5,907 against Kramer's 4,883 on the Republican ticket.

Kaye scored 5,195 Democratic and 682 Liberal Party votes for a total of 5,877. Keyser scored 4,841 votes.

Klein, city judge candidate, scored 5,319 on the Democratic ticket, and got 866 Liberal Party votes for a total of 6,185 against Mino's 6,081.

Morris Tops Craft

Christopher D. Morris, Democratic-Liberal candidate for county clerk, won 5,128 Democratic and 770 Liberal votes, topped Republican Lawrence D. Craft by 469 votes.

Francis J. McCordle, Republican candidate for coroner was the only GOP winner in the city except for the Republican aldermen and supervisors who won.

Democrat Jacob R. Moss received 5,175 Democratic and 730 Liberal votes for a total of 5,905 against McCordle's 6,017.

The Democrats, who now have six aldermen in the council, picked up two, one in the Sixth and another in the 13th Ward for an 8-5 advantage. They elected aldermen in the Third, Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, 10th, and 13th wards.

The Democrats, with the help of Liberal party votes elected supervisors in all wards but the First, Second, 11th and 12th wards.

Comparison Given

The 5,907 polled by Radel to win the mayoral vote, was not much more than was polled by Edelmuth two years ago when he lost to GOP incumbent Frederick G. Stang. Edelmuth then got 5,548 votes, but lost to Stang by 2,394 votes. In 1953 the Democrats polled 6,188 votes, but still lost the election by less than 100 votes.

Democrats in the past have elected mayors, but they have never gone to victory so completely as yesterday. On past occasions they have come through with a mayor, but lost either the alderman-at-large or the Common Council, or both.

Often the party has won the advantage in the Common Council, but elected few supervisors. It has seldom scored definite victories for both legislative bodies.

Drew From GOP

Yesterday's results indicated that the Economy Party drew heaviest from the Republican side. They also indicated a heavier vote in the Democratic column, had the new party not been in the race.

The Liberal Party, which gave Radel 705 votes, has also shown a growing importance. Its vote went largely to Democratic can-

With Red Targets in Range

Ike May Bid NATO Organize Network Of Missile Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is expected to propose to allied nations the creation of a network of missile bases within striking distance of Soviet targets.

The proposition may figure in President Eisenhower's meeting with leaders of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris in mid-December.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference yesterday that while the United States has already made arrangements with Britain for establishment of an intermediate range missile unit in the British Isles he thought "it would be desirable to have them elsewhere."

In 1,500-Mile Range

The missiles involved would be those which, like the Army's Jupiter and the Air Force Thor, have an operational range of about 1,500 miles.

The arrangement made with the British at the Bermuda conference last spring provides for the United States to furnish the missiles to Britain. Supplies of atomic or hydrogen warheads also would be kept close by, but those would remain in control of the United States ready for use if war broke out.

Dulles pictured the United States as being behind Russia in the development of ballistics missiles but said "I feel assured that we can catch up."

When asked whether he thought it would be a good thing from the foreign policy standpoint for the United States to get a satellite into outer space as fast as possible, he replied:

Gives Soviets Credit

"I think it would be helpful to demonstrate, as I think we shall, that we have developed a comparable capability (comparable to Soviet progress) in these respects."

Dulles gave the Soviets credit for very great progress in both the scientific and military application of the conquest of space and the development of nuclear explosives. Furthermore, he said that barring a breakdown in the Soviet system, he does not think the United States will ever again have the wide margin of superiority in military power which it had over the Soviet Union 10 years ago. That was just before the Russians exploded their first atomic device.

In terms of the east-west power relationship, he said, this creates a danger which forces the free nations to increase their unity and cooperation.

Sees Danger Great

"I think that we do face a situation," he said, "where the danger is so great, where the consequences of not combining are so serious both in terms of military effectiveness and in terms of the cost of sustaining a military establishment, that there will be increasing acceptance of that point of view."

A number of the European allies have expressed interest in obtaining atomic weapons from the United States. Dulles said yesterday that he hopes to have a concrete plan ready for submission at the Paris NATO meeting for establishment of atomic stockpiles in Europe under United States control.

France as well as Britain has asked for missiles, and other European governments are understood to be interested.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's difficult to find many people who agree on the nature or ways of love. Everybody has a different definition of it. When two of opposite sexes agree on love's nature it often leads them into all sorts of complications: Marriage, children, mortgages.

Potential Seen

Probably there is wide disagreement too on "The Changing Ways of Love," the first offering of "The Seven Lively Arts" (CBS-TV, Sundays, 5 p. m.). Personally, I found it a disappointment, while believing that the program itself has great potential.

"The Changing Ways of Love" was an example of television's penchant for categorizing everything on the basis of available economic and social theories—and available film clips. Love just can't be categorized in such a manner. That such estimable talents as are gathered on "The Seven Lively Arts" should think it could be treated so is quite surprising.

In brief live dramas, in film and dance and commentary, we saw and heard theories about the manners of love that we've often seen and heard before on television: In the 1920s love was expressed by "flaming youth" and the Charleston and so forth. In the 1930s love was a proletarian affair complicated by an economic depression. In the 1940s and after, it ranged from Rita Hayworth to Elvis Presley and Jimmy Dean.

Script Superficial

Perhaps if the program had been entitled "Prominent American Love Objects of the Past 30 Years" there would have been less disappointment. But the script by S. J. Perelman lacked incisive wit and was superficial in viewpoint.

John Crosby, the television critic who made his professional debut on the other side of the cameras, will make an excellent host when this program gets under way. His reflectiveness, eloquently expressed by furrowed brow and hesitant speech, is ideally suited to a thoughtful program.

The trouble was that he was working on a program of many neat tricks but little reflective content. So, too, was Mike Wallace who displayed his customary professional ease and incisive questioning before the cameras.

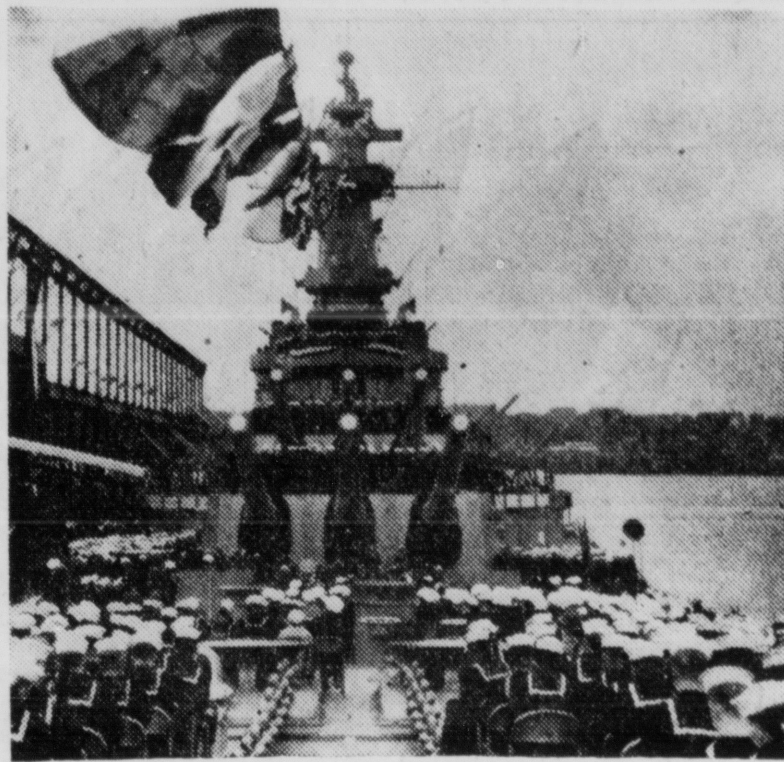

Excellent for Piper

Three truncated dramatic sketches, which tried to illustrate three views of love in three decades, were ineptly selected. They were, however, an excellent vehicle for Piper Laurie, an actress who increasingly displays fine talents.

Perhaps, above all, "The Changing Ways of Love" revealed television's great capacity for perpetuating facile interpretations of social history.

"The Changing Ways of Love" said some familiar things about various social phenomena of recent years. But of love—its humors and posturings and utter sincerity—scarcely a significant word was said nor a stirring emotion evoked.

The Osborne House on the Isle of Wight, off the south coast of England, was Queen Victoria's favorite retreat. It is now a convalescent home.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 6, 1957

SCORE: 2 to 0!

The score in the satellite sweepstakes is Russia 2, United States 0. And a great deal more is at issue than an Olympic medal. Every time the Kremlin registers a scientific victory of this magnitude, it vastly increases its menacing leverage against the world's free and uncommitted peoples.

There can be no doubt that, coming so close in the wake of Sputnik I, this new earth satellite will shake severely what confidence may still be left around the globe in America's scientific prowess.

Once again, the pre-eminent fact is not the spinning satellite itself. It is the knowledge that the Russians have the rocket force to propel an object they say weighs 1,120 pounds to a height of more than 1,000 miles above the earth.

If this weight is being accurately reported, then this event increases the likelihood that the Soviet leaders are telling the truth when they claim to have an intercontinental ballistic missile.

That they have also managed to send a dog aloft in an air-conditioned and sealed compartment of Sputnik II probably further heightens respect in many quarters for Soviet scientific ingenuity. And this in spite of the inevitable world-wide protests of dog lovers.

We might as well face it. When we launch our own 21-pound satellite in the months ahead, it is almost sure to be strictly anticlimactic—the feeble tail on the Russian dog.

The only comfort in the situation is that no proof yet exists that the Russians have solved the very difficult problems of getting a long-range missile back into the earth's atmosphere and onto specific targets. Until they have licked those monumental difficulties our danger is not total.

But it is obviously very great, and we cannot afford to assume blithely that it will be total. Sputnik II forcefully underscores the need for a tremendous new effort by the United States in collaboration with its free friends abroad.

If we settle for anything less than this, we may be settling for something considerably less than survival.

AUTO CURTAIN RISES

The curtain is rising again on one of the world's astonishing economic performances, the movement of new automobiles by the millions from the factories to the American consumer. The play really is continuous, but each fall it is given fresh impetus by the appearance of models for the coming year.

As the new car season approaches, manufacturers and dealers exhibit signs of nervousness. They buttonhole the man on the street, singly and collectively, in hopes of learning what kind of a year they are going to have. This year, if advance notices are to be credited, is going to be a good one.

Not spectacular—six million cars, perhaps a few more. Not spectacular. But six million! Anywhere else on earth a figure even within distant sight of six million new cars would be considered sensational, phenomenal, beyond belief. And it does have something of that quality about it.

Manufacturers and dealers are fairly confident about a high demand for their product, if only because of the rising population. It appears that credit will be available in good supply to finance the purchases. The jackpot question that remains is: Which brands of luxury on wheels are going to sell best? It is a question that only the public can answer in the months to come.

Even though Russia achieved a head start in one phase of outer space exploration, there is plenty of room in that area for catching up.

A 2,400-mile undersea telephone cable is now in service between the U.S. and Hawaii, assuring conversational service without danger of satellite travelers listening in.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
INTELLECTUAL BIGOTRY

Bigotry is bad news wherever it appears and under whatever circumstances. Bigotry of one sort or another does show itself in odd places. For instance, in the quarrel between Father Hugh Halton and Princeton University, each side shouts, Bigot!, at the other and one of the primary charges against Father Halton is that he disturbed the peace and quiet of university life because he raised literal hell over attacks on his church and its doctrines. Even some Catholics, attached to Princeton, felt that he was too boisterous in defense of what he believed to be the truth.

Personally, I enjoy boisterous defenders of the Truth, whatever they may be proved to be. And so I read a book by George W. Elderkin, Professor Emeritus of Princeton University, entitled "The Roman Catholic Problem," in which he sets out to prove that the Roman Catholic Church is an evil institution and that there is a Jesuit influence in the FBI.

The learned professor starts out to show that the Catholic Church's opposition to Communism in the United States was also an attack on Democracy and there there is a very prolonged footnote dealing with J. B. Matthews' statements in the "American Mercury," about leftist Protestant clergymen. From the nature of the paragraph, no reader would know that J. B. Matthews is a Protestant, had studied theology, went to Java as a Protestant missionary and that he had translated Protestant hymns into the Javanese. Nor would it be known that the objectionable statement appeared in the "American Mercury" and was unrelated to any Congressional committee.

It is very difficult to discover who in the FBI is the Roman Catholic infiltrator. The three top men, J. Edgar Hoover, Clyde Tolson and L. B. Nichols are Protestants. The point is made that Archbishop O'Boyle of the Roman Catholic Church addressed the FBI Academy; so did I and Judge Irving Kaufman and we are both Jews.

I read this chapter carefully and cannot find that the learned Princeton emeritus makes any point at all. He is just anti-Catholic and anti-FBI and ties his net abominations together in a chapter which adds nothing to our knowledge.

Then in the last chapter, I pull out this: "... Pius XII did not dare do more than approve in silence the 'Christian' carnage in Yugoslavia. He did not protest the monstrous killings of Jews by the Catholic Hitler, nor heed the appeal to stop Franco's execution of defeated republicans. Pius XII remained true to the Vatican's tradition for pious murder. He rewarded Stepanac, who tacitly sanctioned such murder in Yugoslavia, with a cardinal's cap. Justice demands that retribution should have brought into court not only Stepanac, but Pius XII himself."

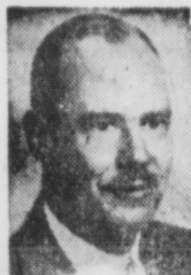

Quite apart from all else, to refer to Hitler as a Catholic is stretching a point. Hitler having persecuted the Catholic Church as much as he did the Jews, but he probably did not slaughter as many Catholics.

The final scientific conclusion reached by this distinguished professor, who was instructor and professor of Greek archaeology at Princeton from 1910 to 1948, is:

"... Her (the Vatican's) present program is to involve the United States and European nations in war against the communist and Orthodox Russia. If that should prove successful, she will then seek to realize her final ambition of overwhelming England and the United States, the bulwarks of religious freedom. For this, she counts upon the martial help of an Adenauer's Catholic Germany re-enforced with that of Italy, Spain, and the latter's blood relatives in South America. There can be no compromise between the Vatican's rigidly intolerant creed and the ideals of free countries."

Using Professor Elderkin's hit and miss methods, I might conclude that he prefers the Russian Communists to the Roman Catholics which, of course, is his privilege. But the question must arise that if the Catholics are so wicked for suppressing Jews, Protestants and others, are not the Princeton trustees equally wicked for excommunicating Father Halton. If it is good doctrine to be free to say that the Pope is a murderer, is it not equally good doctrine to say that he is no such thing? Also, if the young mind is exposed to Professor Elderkin's book, is it very bad manners to say that the book is not worthy of attention?

One of the reasons for kicking Father Halton off the Princeton campus is that he opposed the ideas of Professor Emeritus George W. Elderkin. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Usual Weight Gain in Pregnancy Is Set Between 18 and 20 Pounds

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Since something like four million babies are born in the United States alone each year, today's first question is of considerable interest to large numbers of women.

Q—What is the average weight gain at pregnancy? I have gained 20 pounds in the first six months.—Mrs. W. H.

A—It is common practice for physicians to set a limit to the weight which their patients should gain during pregnancy. Limited weight gain adds to the patient's comfort and improves her appearance. It makes return to "normal weight" easier after the child is born. It also is said to lessen the chances of complications for both mother and child. The usual limit of weight gain is between 18-20 pounds. However, many physicians arrive at the desirable weight by adding 20 pounds to the ideal weight for the patient's age and height.

Q—I am 35 and have had a complete removal of my organs, including the ovaries. I have many hot flashes and wonder if these will subside in time.—Mrs. E.

A—When it is necessary to remove the ovaries in this type of operation at the age 35 a surgical or premature menopause is produced. This will bring about the same symptoms as are likely to occur normally 10 years or so later. Such symptoms as those mentioned can often be considerably relieved by giving suitable quantities of endocrine preparations (hormones). They will almost certainly subside with time.

Q—I have been having trouble because my breasts are getting bigger and bigger. I seem to be able to lose weight everywhere else and would like to know if there is a safe way to reduce their size.—Mrs. P.

A—I do not know of any method which I could recommend except the possibility in some instances of surgery.

Q—I have just been informed that I have a bone disease called osteoporosis. Can you tell me anything about this?—Mrs. L. L.

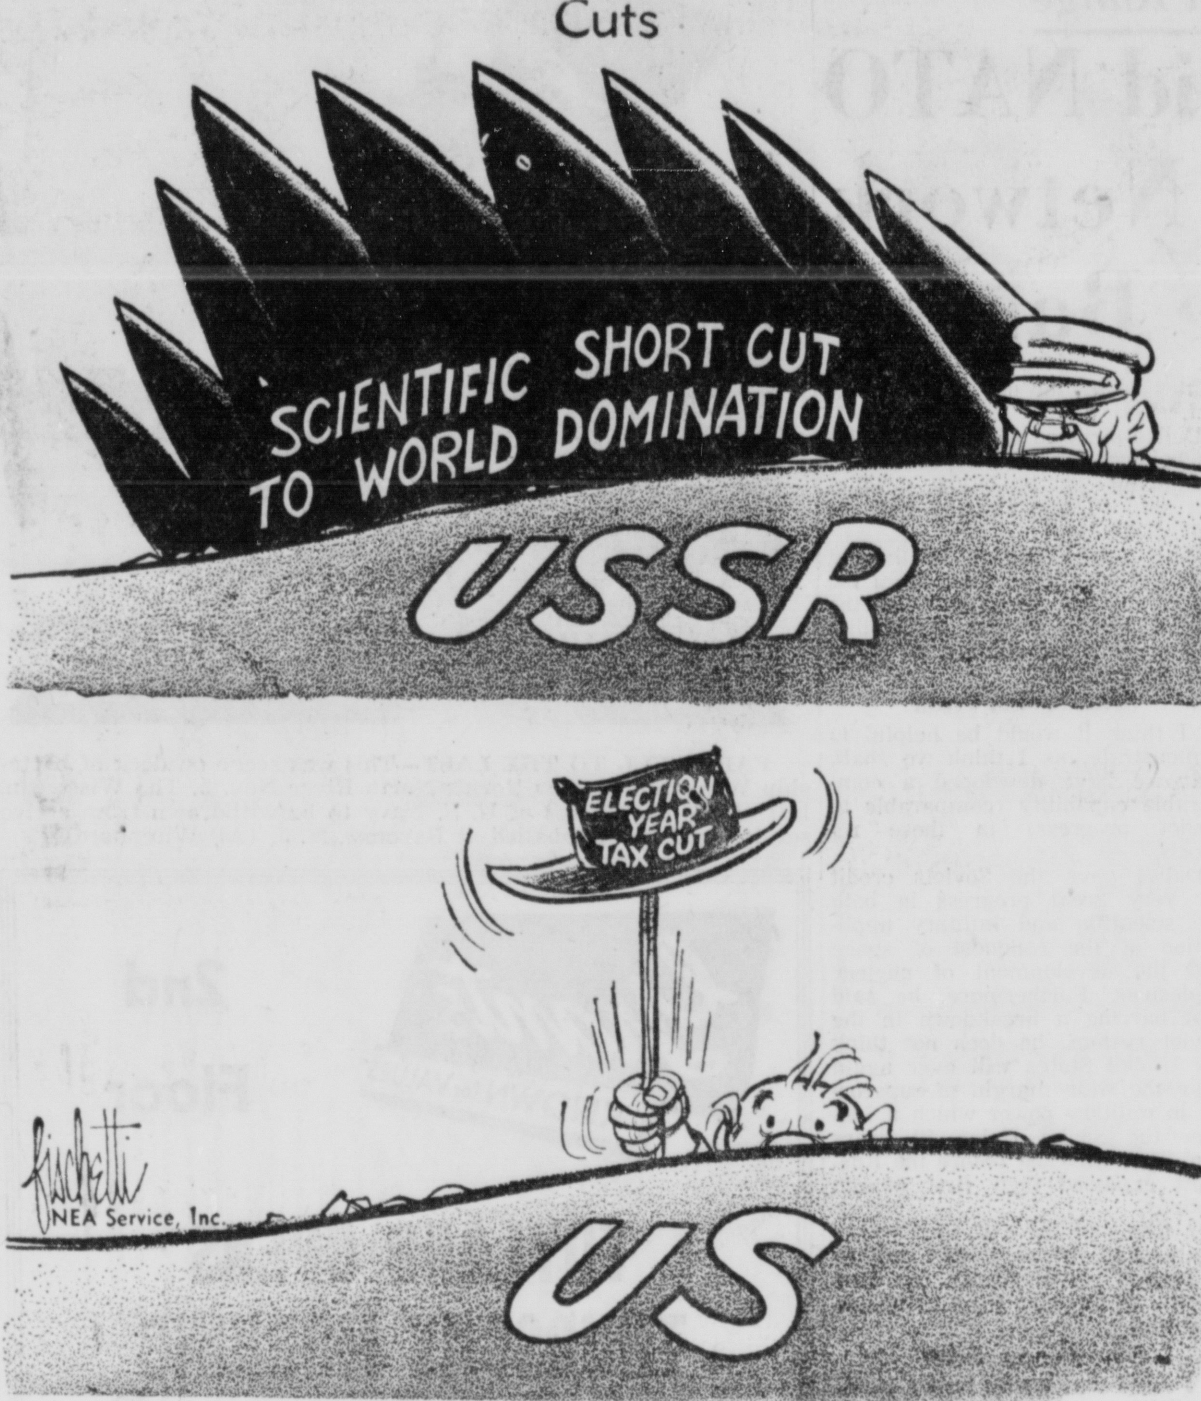

A—This is a bone disorder of obscure origin which is sometimes hereditary or runs in families. There is an increase in the density of many bones because of their abnormal calcium content. The disease is sometimes simply known as "marble bones."

Q—How much can one smoke without danger of cancer of the lungs?—E. F. B.

A—This is a $64,000 question! Some people smoke heavily throughout a lifetime and never get lung cancer. However, recent studies have shown that the frequency of lung cancer appears to increase in direct proportion with the number of cigarettes smoked. This relationship is not so clear cut with pipes and cigars. Sometimes a person who has never smoked at all gets lung cancer.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Eisenhower administration farm plans of 1954 and 1956 having failed to accomplish what they were supposed to do, there is considerable speculation on what kind of a rabbit the Republican magicians can pull out of their hat to save the farm vote in 1958.

In 1954 Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson put on his big drive to get rid of rigid price supports.

Two years later the Eisenhower administration produced its billion-dollar soil bank plan to buy the farm vote. It succeeded on the presidential ticket, all right, but in the farm belt west of the Mississippi, the GOP lost congressmen.

Underlying purpose of both programs was to cut down the production of farm surpluses.

This year the soil bank has cut cotton and wheat production a little. Surpluses might have been far greater, of course, if the soil bank had not been in effect.

BUT GREATER flexibility on price supports doesn't appear to have cut production at all. For this year's crop yields will be among the three greatest in U. S. history.

The most disturbing possibility overhanging the 1958 elections is that there will be record surpluses of all feed grains—corn, oats, barley and grain sorghums. This year's grain sorghum production may double last year's, competing heavily with corn.

The supply of feed grains available in relation to livestock and poultry numbers is at a record high.

The normal corn-hog ratio is said to exist when 100 pounds of hog will buy 12 bushels of corn. This year, due to depressed grain prices, 100 pounds of hog have bought as much as 16 bushels of corn.

In such a situation, farmers naturally raise more hogs to fatten on the cheap grain. But this is normally followed by a big drop in hog prices.

IF THAT HAPPENS when next spring's pig crop is sent to market next fall, just before the elections, the result in the farm belt could be politically disastrous.

Foreseeing a similar situation developing last fall, Secretary Benson proposed a new corn program. It called for ending corn price supports and dropping corn acreage allotments. Its purpose was to reduce corn production by a free market price.

The plan appealed to some farmers. But others feared that they would lose more money without corn price supports than they would gain in higher prices on a reduced corn crop. So the plan failed to win two-thirds majority approval in a referendum vote.

Congress was then asked to put the plan into effect by law. But a Democratic House majority killed it. So the new program was never given a trial. And the situation got worse. Farmers were even given support for corn raised on acreage not under allotment.

There are no clear indications as yet on what the administration proposes to do about it for next year.

U.S. Seen Overtaking Reds To Renew Arms Stalemate

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Time was when America had the atomic bomb—and no other nation did. Soviet Russia may have been nervous then.

Time was when America successfully developed the hydrogen bomb despite the strategy of delay recommended by certain important scientists of international fame inside the United States government who argued against it. Soviet Russia may have been nervous then, too.

But in each case Moscow finally caught up. The nervousness then disappeared.

History is likely to repeat itself, with the United States catching up with Russia in intercontinental missiles, statelites, "Sputniks" and other spectacular feats. Presumably nervousness then will disappear here, too.

Dramatic Experiments

Meanwhile, certain decisions have been reached. America can and will launch satellites that will spin around the world. This doesn't have any direct military value, but it does have propaganda value. Here, in high places in the government, instructions have been issued to launch some dramatic experiments, if only to show people everywhere that the United States is abreast of Soviet Russia.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, at his press conference today, revealed in part the Administration's hopes and aspirations. He didn't go into detail, but he undoubtedly reflected in his remarks a knowledge of what transpired at the recent meeting of the National Security Council, at which President Eisenhower and the top men in government penetrated the missile subject from every angle, including propaganda effects.

Mr. Dulles now discloses that the United States will soon demonstrate that, like Soviet Russia, this country has the capacity to put aloft artificial satellites. He says it would be helpful from a psychological point of view when America demonstrates its capacity in that direction.

Matching Performance

This is but another way of saying that the decision has been made to match Soviet performance as promptly as possible, irrespective of whether it helps to any degree on the military side.

In the background here, of course, is not the "Sputnik" or the magic of dog travel in outer space but the importance of intercontinental missiles as a military weapon. Disarmament conferences have been suspended and the world is confronted with a race in deadly missiles. Mr. Dulles spoke significantly of the bases available to the United States in Europe for intermediate range missiles, which have already been proved feasible.

All this adds up to the fact that militarily the United States and Soviet Russia stand out as the two rivals in the world and that recent events have, if anything, sharpened the conflict that exists between the two major powers.

Stalemate Accentuated

The world, to be sure, has been witnessing for the last few years a stalemate. It has often been said that neither side would start a war lest this should threaten such mutual destruction as to make the idea of war itself seem utterly unwise from any standpoint. The introduction of the intercontinental missile has merely accentuated the importance of the previous stalemate. Whether America catches up or goes ahead of Russia, the truth is that weapons do exist which can be used for such destructive purposes as to make the employment of the big bombs and missiles unthinkable.

What, then, will be the course of the power struggle? It looks as if the Communist strategy will be one of penetration and infiltration and the provoking of local situations, such as have flared up in Korea, Indochina and the Middle East. Local wars—sometimes called "little wars"—can evidently be fought without the risk of the larger war. This has happened three times since World War II, and the pattern set by the Communists could be followed again.

This Communist technique may challenge the Western powers more and more deeply. For it will require the expenditure here of vast sums, not merely for missiles and H-bombs which may never be used but also for conventional weapons which are expensive and normally would be dispersed with the favor of the bombs and missiles.

The strain on the American economy will be severe, and similarly the burden on the countries allied with us will be heavy. There is no disarmament in sight, no certainty of peace. There is every reason to believe that both sides—West and East—will endeavor to avoid war.

But when hotheads are in office, as in the Kremlin, accidents can happen and wars can precipitate. That's the real danger today, and the world will not be safe for the democratic countries until there is a free government in Moscow obedient to the peaceful will of the people. When the Kickapoo Indian tribe was moved from Indiana and Illinois in 1832, it was given a reservation of 1,200 square miles in northeastern Kansas. Today that reservation near Horton consists of less than 6,000 acres and inhabited by less than 100 Indians.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

FORT WORTH, — That fellow who was hit over the head and bloodied up by an army soldier in Little Rock has a strong case against the two troopers who laid him low and their lieutenant and, for that matter, against the colonel and the general, too. Those troops have absolutely no legal standing in that duty. They lack even the pretext of martial law because martial law was not proclaimed. Nobody read the riot act. Nothing was done to establish a pretense or legal technicality to put this citizen in the wrong even if it be conceded that he was the "aggressor."

For the record, however, he was not the aggressor. He was righteously resisting aggression in denial of his own civil rights. Under the conditions he had a legal right to get a gun of his own and shoot soldiers.

Those troops had no more legal right to carry deadly weapons and to shove citizens around than any armed mob. They are in the status of thugs in this duty and the citizen has no legal obligation to obey them. The soldiers probably do not know that they are outside the law, but that does not improve their situation. Far from enforcing "civil rights," they are trampling the civil rights of all the people who are denied free passage and the plainly implied threat of injury or death which is presented by loaded guns and bayonets designed to kill people.

A situation similar to this but not as outrageous was thoroughly canvassed back in the 'thirties by Zechariah Chafee, a Harvard law doubledegree, who took for his case in point the military occupation of the race track at Pawtucket, R. I., by the Rhode Island National Guard under martial law proclaimed by a political ephemera named Robert Quinn who lost his head under provocation by Walter O'Hara, one of the owners of the track. O'Hara had called him a liar in a head across page one of a paper which O'Hara had started.

Quinn and O'Hara didn't show a lick of sense in this crazy row and O'Hara took the beating because Quinn, as governor, was able to cancel out all the rights assigned to the track for its fall racing season.

The details and merits of the dispute are meaningless, but O'Hara was beginning to wallow in money when he had the crazy inspiration to set up a daily paper and mess in politics. As an incident in the row will be remembered by few and the questions those few as a ridiculous episode which should have been settled man-to-man in some back room, O'Hara was killed in an automobile wreck a few years later. He wasn't a bad Joe.

When Quinn mobilized his army, jerking young men out of their jobs and away from their families for absurd duty at a horse-park with machine-guns mounted on tripods and rolling kitchens giving off the seductive bouquet of slum, he set Chafee to ruminating on the duties and legal hazards of soldiers sent against civilians. Their status is morally if not technically worse where there is no insurrection against legitimate authority.

There was no disorder at the track, although O'Hara may have said he intended to run his meet notwithstanding the governor's refusal to issue the usual permit. If he did express this intention, all Quinn need have done was send a couple of state policemen out to arrest him for violating the law against unlicensed racing.

Chafee is a load of books on martial law and past performances in this country and in Europe, especially Germany under the experimental republic after the Kaiser lit out for Doorn. Much that he found apparently was news to him, too, for he wrote his treatise in a tone of surprise as well as emphatic authority. It has the title of "State O'Hara Versus Penitence." O'Hara had built himself a luxurious apartment on the roof of the grandstand and his official statements were supposed to issue from there, although the only place where I encountered him was in a little office on the ground floor.

Bear in mind that in that case there was a technical resort to martial law. Nevertheless, Chafee laid it down that basically the soldier has no right to kick civilians around.

In Little Rock there was no violence. In any case, Little Rock, the county or the state could have handled it.

A lawyer for the victim, and there were thousands of victims besides the one who was slugged in the scuffle with two soldiers, could go to the record of a hundred, or a thousand, explosions of bloody urban insurrection which have set off a chain of civil rights of millions of people since Roosevelt's brown shirts went into the streets about 1937 to drive people into his political auxiliaries called the AF of L and the CIO. They show that the federal government unmistakably washed its hands of responsibility for local peace and the preservation of civil rights against rioters.

Frank Murphy, the poltroon governor of Michigan, did call out the guard. He never issued the orders which would have sent them into action although they were itching to bat the brains out of the Reuthers, John Lewis and a few others like them who were terrorizing their fellow citizens. And the federal government thought so highly of wild insurrection that Roosevelt made Murphy governor of the Philippines, attorney general and, finally, justice of the Supreme Court. Clearly, the federal government renounced any authority that it may have had had to horn into such situations even where there is blood on the moon, as distinctly there was not in Little Rock.

The case admits of no argument. Those troops were no better than any armed thugs terrorizing a peaceful American city. The victims should be able to recover and send all concerned to state prisons.

Matter of FACT

No two leaves are exactly alike, even though they may come from the same branch of the same tree and seem to have the same size, shape and color. The leaf is the food factory of green plants and trees because they manufacture the food which plants must have to become full grown and healthy. Leaves have veins like blood vessels in the human body. These veins are hollow tubes which carry food and water back and forth between the leaves and the rest of the plant.

NEW GLASGOW, N. S. (AP)—Miss Margaret Whadden, town clerk for 25 years, said here that no group of women ever talked as much as the men on the new Glasgow town council. Speaking at a dinner for the high school cadet band, she said she hoped that women would take a greater part in civic affairs.

Delayed Medal

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Joseph DeCosi got his medal, the Army's Bronze Star, but nobody seems to know why it reached him 13 years after the award was made. He also isn't quite sure just what combat brought him the medal. He was fighting in Italy when the award was made on May 13, 1944.

Sharing Everything With Your Child Is Not Wise

One Saturday morning Mr. G. went down to his basement workshop where he was making a coffee table for Mrs. G.

Shaping its legs had been a problem. So as he fixed a length of birchwood into his lathe, he was deeply concentrating on what he was doing. But just as he picked up his chisel, his 7-year-old son appeared, crying, "Can I sandpaper the legs, Daddy? Can I...?"

"Go away!" roared Mr. G. "I want to be alone down here!"

Ten minutes later, his wife interrupted him. She said, "Jim, child psychology books say that fathers and sons should do things together. Otherwise, they say children may never get to know their fathers. You don't want that to happen to you and Pete, dear."

Mr. G. should have said, "As I'm 25 years older than Pete, there are some things we can do together and some that we can't. So, my dear, when I'm doing something I must do alone, I'll go right on seeing to it that I'm left alone."

But he didn't. He was too scared of appearing to disobey child psychologists. So in intense irritation, he endures Pete's presence in the workshop every Saturday morning—and the problem of the table's legs is still unsolved.

Which has been as bad for Pete as for him.

thing we do with children, we would be children ourselves instead of grownups.

By claiming our right to adult activities of our own, we give essential discipline to Pete. He needs his father's example of solitary, concentrated effort to stimulate his own interest in it. Parents who are always willing to interrupt their work to amuse the young suggest disrespect for work. They show little genuine involvement in it.

When child "experts" tell us to share all our activities with Pete, we should remember that their counsel is colored by their professional concern with child behavior. Unlike Mr. G., they are not interested in making coffee tables but in studying Pete's conduct.

Certainly Mr. G. may wish to invite Pete to sandpaper the table legs after they're made. But until he's happy to share his adult activity with his son, it's proper to claim it as his own possession. Otherwise Pete may never learn to claim his activities as his possessions.

Same Old Story Again

Russians Show Might,
U.S. Just Reacts to ItBy JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's an old story, at least 10 years old. The Russians call the tune and this country dances. They act and we react. It's happening again.

The Russians sent two Sputniks into the sky, more evidence of their amazing progress. A tremendous American reaction, by now familiar, sets in: a great national desire to do something to offset the Russians.

This is a reminder of how many times it's happened before:

It started in 1947 when Greece and Turkey, pressured by Russia, asked this country for aid. This country gave them the help in a new American policy called the Truman Doctrine.

It was the end of two post-war years of trying to work things out peacefully with Russia and the beginning of a program of trying to contain communism within its borders.

Truman's Reaction

The same year President Truman proposed the Marshall Plan for Western Europe. This was, to a degree, a reaction to aggressive communism. If Europe wasn't helped to its feet, the communists would have fertile field.

But 1948 was the big year, although for years afterward one American move after another was the result of something the communists did.

Early that year Russia grabbed control of all Eastern Europe when communists seized power in Czechoslovakia, the only non-communist country behind the Iron Curtain. This country was profoundly shocked.

The Russians kept up the pressure, tried to push the West out of Berlin with a blockade. The answer to that was the Berlin airlift which broke the blockade. Russia's ugly designs were clear now.

The Senate authorized American alliances, the first in peacetime.

The result: In 1949 the United States joined with Canada and the West European countries in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Bomb Came as Shock

That year this country suffered another gigantic shock: The Russians set off their first atomic explosion on Sept. 23. This country hadn't up to then decided to make the even greater hydrogen bomb.

But if we didn't do it, the Russians would. On Jan. 31, 1950 Truman ordered the hydrogen bomb developed. On Nov. 1, 1952 this country had its first hydrogen explosion.

But on Aug. 21, 1953 they had their hydrogen explosion. This was truly a shock.

Meanwhile this country had been lagging with its other armaments. But not for long. The Reds attacked in Korea and we reacted by defending Korea. Then this country rushed into more military alliances: with Japan, Australia, New Zealand, Southeast Asia.

The huge American peacetime budgets—huge because of military expenditures—are a direct result of an effort at protection against Russia.

Even President Eisenhower's mid-east program of this year—a policy of helping any country in the area attacked by communism—was a result of Russian pressure in the Middle East.

A WOMAN'S PACKAGES

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like you to settle a disagreement my wife and I are having. The point in question is: Should a man happen to meet a woman friend returning from a shopping trip and carrying several packages, is it considered ungentlemanly of him if he does not offer to carry her packages? I say "no" but my wife insists that a well-bred man would not allow a woman to carry packages when he himself is empty handed. Please settle this for us.

Answer: He should offer to carry a package that seems to be heavy or difficult for her to carry, but he is not expected to offer help with any small one that she is carrying easily.

Semi-Formal

Dear Mrs. Post: If an invitation to a semi-public dance is printed with the directions "semi-formal" on it, what kind of clothes are guests expected to wear?

Answer: In communities where the tail coat is worn, semi-formal means dinner jackets (tuxedos) for the men and simple evening dresses for the women. In others where the dinner jacket is formal, semi-formal would mean men in dark sack suits and women in afternoon dresses. At any rate, it does not mean women in formal evening dresses and men in business suits as so many mistakenly think.

A Stepfather's Complaint

Dear Mrs. Post: My stepdaughter is to be married soon and the invitations to her wedding have been made up in my wife's name alone which I discovered just today when the invitations came back from the engravers. I have been this girl's stepfather for ten years and have supported her up until a year ago when she started to earn her own living. I feel hurt at being omitted but my wife claims that as long as the girl's father is living, it is not proper to include my name on the wedding invitations. Will you please tell me if this is correct?

Answer: Your wife is wrong. The invitation should very definitely have included your name. However, the third line of the invitation should read "her daughter" instead of "their daughter."

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other questions on manners in public are answered in Mrs. Post's leaflet E-15, "Manners in Public." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Expressions

the Democratic mayoralty candidate on his victory at the polls. I feel that the people of Kingston are to be congratulated on their turnout Tuesday and I accept with pride and humility their decision.

Will Keep Watch

"At this time I would also like to thank the loyal voters of the Economy Party and my particular thanks goes out to all the candidates on the ticket and many workers who made today's election possible.

"I feel as I have felt all during the campaign that the Economy Party has done a good job because it gave the people of Kingston an opportunity to express their desire for better government. God willing, the Economy Party will be the people's watchdog during the next two years."

First in Post

Harold Kaye, elected alderman-at-large on the Democratic ticket:

"I am particularly elated that Kingston has chosen me as the first Democratic alderman-at-large in its history. My wife and son join with me in extending our most sincere appreciation to the voters and I pledge all my efforts to administer, to the best of my ability, the office entrusted to me as presiding officer of the city's legislative body. My two opponents — Alderman William Keyser and Charles M. Rinschler — receive my warmest praise for the manner in which the campaign was conducted. May I also congratulate The Freeman for the wonderful job it did in handling campaign news."

Alderman William S. Keyser, GOP candidate for alderman-at-large:

"I wish to extend my congratulations to Harold Kaye, successful candidate for alderman-at-large. I and my family wish him the very best in his tenure of office and I want to compliment the opposition on the high type of campaign they conducted."

Praises Procedure

N. LeVan Haver, Republican city chairman:

"I wish to publicly congratulate the Democrat Party and its candidates who were successful in yesterday's election. We are particularly pleased that this campaign was conducted on issues and not on personalities. It is most gratifying that all the parties conducted the type of campaign that tended to inform the voters of the qualifications of the candidates and their platforms."

"I cannot refrain from commenting on the effect that we believe the Economy Party had in the city campaign. It is quite obvious that the only result that they accomplished was to elect the Democrat candidates.

"I have repeatedly reiterated my firm conviction that the two-party system is the soundest assurance that the American people have for good government. Yesterday's election serves to confirm that conviction."

Knows They'll Help

"I am sure that the Republican members of the newly elected Common Council will lend all possible assistance to the new administration in every effort to make Kingston the fine progressive city that that we all feel it must be. We extend our very best wishes to the newly elected city officials."

"I also wish to take this opportunity of thanking all the party workers and voters for the support given the Republican candidates. I feel I would also be remiss if I didn't comment on the fact that The Freeman gave all the candidates an opportunity to state their case to the voters in the best tradition of American journalism."

Notes Resurgence

William A. Kelly, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee:

"The sweeping victory of the Democratic party in the City of Kingston and the fact that the Democrats now have 15 supervisors in the Ulster County Board of Supervisors and came within five votes of controlling the Board of Supervisors is definite concrete proof that there is a resurgence of Democratic strength in the City of Kingston and throughout Ulster County."

"I am particularly pleased with the fact that the people supported Edwin F. Radel for mayor, who I predict will be one of the finest mayors the city has ever had. But, I am most happy that the Democratic party elected an alderman-at-large for the first time in the history of Kingston as far as I know. I am confident that Harold Kaye will be a competent and impartial president of the Common Council, and I feel just as certain that Aaron E. Klein, city judge-elect, will preside on the bench of the city court in a most capable manner and will carry on the high tradition of that court."

Objective Reporting

"I wish to highly commend as I did publicly the day before election the Kingston Daily Freeman for the fair and objective report it accorded the Democratic party as well as the other two parties. Such reporting must of necessity help the voting population intelligently select their officers."

"I wish also to thank every Democratic candidate who was successful, every Democratic candidate to whom success has not as yet come and every person who in any way contributed to the victory of the Democratic party in the City of Kingston at this election."

tion. With a majority in the Common Council, I believe that the policies and program of Mayor Edwin F. Radel will be carried out in a way so as to benefit the entire City of Kingston. I wish to commend both over political parties for conducting a hard and vigorous campaign, but one which they carried out on a high plane."

Deserve Chance

Charles M. Rinschler, Economy Party candidate for alderman-at-large:

"The people have spoken and we accept their decision. They have given the Democrats all the tools for good administration of the city affairs. In all fairness we must give these newly-elected candidates an opportunity to show the type of leadership their party contains."

"The public, however, has indicated that its thinking is changing and this fact is indicated in the results whereby no party got 50 per cent of the votes and consequently we have three minority parties in Kingston. The Economy Party will try to serve the people who voted for it with all the facilities it might command. "We wish the new administration good luck."

Mayor-elect Edwin F. Radel:

"I deeply appreciate the support of all of those people who helped to elect me, my running mate, Harold L. Kaye and Aaron E. Klein, and which gave me a Democratic majority in the Common Council."

Would Know Wishes

"I pledge that I will do my utmost to carry out the wishes of all of the people of the City of Kingston. I will be guided by the principles of the Democratic party and will bring credit to the Democratic party and honor to the City of Kingston."

Efforts to contact Aaron E. Klein, city judge-elect, were unavailable at press time, and his Republican opponent City Judge Raymond J. Mino, who was defeated, said he would withhold any statement until a canvass of the votes had been completed.

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee:

"To the Democratic mayor elect we offer our congratulations. He and his party now have full responsibility for the management of the City of Kingston for the next two years."

Retains Control of Board

"Countywide, the Republican Party still retains control of the Board of Supervisors."

"We recaptured the Town of Rochester which was in the hands of the Democrats. We did lose the towns of Plattekill, Gardner and Esopus, but by ex-votes had been completed. In fact, the outcome in several of these towns is so close that the result is still in doubt."

"As good Americans and good sportsmen we accept yesterday's results as the true expression of the will of the voters."

"On behalf of the Republican Party I want to thank all who supported us in any way."

Esopus . . .

but offered her candidacy on an Independent ticket. She was endorsed by the Democratic party.

Mrs. Geertsema, the mother of two-year-old twins, ran on issues of increased public interest and participation in government and centralization with Ontario. She

Let's Talk Turkey About Our "No Charge for Credit" Policy

If you're like most folks you owe money on several charge and installment accounts and you're very much interested in how big the finance charges are on those accounts. You should be. These finance charges add a big chunk to your monthly payments and leave less dollars for your regular living expenses. But not at Standard! Unlike the other furniture chains and unlike many small stores too—there is NO CHARGE FOR CREDIT at Standard . . . no interest charges, no finance charges, no carrying charges, no budget charges. And—because we at Standard are in the furniture business and not the banking business—you can buy your furniture needs without penalty simply because you don't have the cash. For 56 years we have been selling nationally famous brands at low, low prices and with "no charge for credit." We hope our policy makes sense to you.

Sincerely,

President.

Prober Promises More Evidence in Union Dealings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today his Senate Rackets Investigating Committee has evidence to expose in the months ahead what he called more crooked dealings between employers and labor union leaders.

Winding up hearings on the tactics used by Nathan W. Shefferman and firms which employed Shefferman's labor consulting service, McClellan said the committee will deal starting Nov. 12 with charges of racketeering in New York City's big and sprawling waste collection industry.

It will involve, he said, collusive practices by some companies with labor officials he declined to name—in part to squeeze out competitors of the employers. The committee has declined to discuss reports gangster Albert (Boss) Anastasia would have been a witness had he not been shot down in a New York barber chair.

Hearing End

The committee wound up its hearings on Shefferman's activities yesterday. McClellan read into the official record a statement that the evidence showed conduct by Shefferman, by some firms which hired him, and by some Teamsters "Union people that should be strongly condemned."

He announced later he would ask the Justice Department and income tax investigators to look through transcripts of the testimony for evidence of law violations, including perjury and tax evasion.

Shefferman, 70-year-old head of the Chicago firm of Labor Relations Associates Inc., invoked the Fifth Amendment 25 times, and his son Shelton invoked it 34 times on the witness stand after failing to win a delay in the committee questioning.

Democrats Gain

term by a stunning 6-1 margin over Republican Edward J. Ray. It was Corning's most lopsided victory in the heavily Democratic capital city.

A Democrat won in Binghamton, where the GOP hopes had been considered brightest. He was John J. Burns, executive assistant to the present Mayor Donald Kramer. Burns downed Republican Herbert H. Ray, an attorney.

In Kingston, where the scandal-ridden police department is under investigation by the Harriman administration, Democrat Edwin Radel defeated the GOP's Bernhardt Kramer by more than a thousand votes.

Utica Democrat John T. McKenna was re-elected.

Democrat J. Ward Russell evened his score by edging GOP incumbent Milton G. Tibbitts in Glens Falls. It was the fourth time the two had faced each other. Tibbitts had won twice previously. Yesterday's vote was 3,890 for Russell and 3,353 for Tibbitts.

Poughkeepsie GOP

For a time, the Democrats appeared to have taken another mayoral seat—in Poughkeepsie. At first, Democrat Victor C. Waras was reported ahead by 39 votes. A recheck, still unofficial, showed Republican J. George Spitz in front by 161.

On the Republican side, Anthony A. Henninger was elected mayor of Syracuse by 7,000 votes over Dr. Joseph R. Grosso, a surprisingly strong independent. The Democrat, Arthur B. McGuire, trailed.

In Oneonta, incumbent Roger G. Hughes, who first lost the GOP nomination and then won it back in court, was re-elected. Hughes received 1,951 votes against 1,337 for Democrat Thomas Wilcox. Clifford J. Harter, the original GOP nominee, gained 1,087 votes on the Liberal Party line.

Democrats picked up two seats on the Rochester city council, but the GOP still held a 6-3 majority. The council re-elected Republican Peter Barry as mayor.

Incumbents Beaten

GOP incumbents fell in Amsterdam, Corning and North Tonawanda. Thomas F. Gregg defeated Frank J. Martuscello in Amsterdam; George Keenan knocked out Daniel Stimson in Corning; and John F. Koczynski ousted Frederick B. Durkee in North Tonawanda.

In Lackawanna, Democrat John C. Ogarek bested Walter J. Paryz Sr., the Republican, and Joseph J. Milano, Liberal Party candidate.

For the Republicans, Frank Wolfanger Sr. upset incumbent Lloyd R. Burdett in Hornell and Bartholomew A. Moynahan defeated Theodore J. Dechristopher in Peekskill. Lloyd J. Long defeated two opponents to become GOP mayor of Tonawanda.

In other contests, Democrats held their own in 14 cities and the Republicans in 19.

Fifty-one of the state's 62 cities elected mayors or council-manager type governments. Before the election, the Republicans controlled 28 cities and the Democrats 18. Five were non-partisan.

In a hot non-partisan fight at Jamestown, incumbent Carl F. Sanford, running on a Greater Jamestown ticket, won re-election over Samuel A. Stroth, a Progressive.

All School Papers

Miss Hazel M. Steed, executive secretary of the association, said.

"We hope that their reports on careers in health will help many young people find their future careers in helping to make our community a better and healthier place in which to live."

Winners in Past

Ulster County has had a number of schools receive recognition for this project in the past. In 1956 School No. 7 of Kingston received a National Award. This was the second time the staff of School No. 7's Chatterbox received an award. In 1955 the Ellenville school paper the Quill was one of nine New York State papers chosen for National judging. Other schools in Kingston and Ulster County have also been recipients of this award in the past.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) Aircraft and missile stocks continued their leadership as the stock market moved in vigorous trading early this afternoon.

Key stocks were up from 1 to 3 points.

The ticker tape was 2 minutes behind in reporting a heavy pile-up of opening blocks but it caught abreast in about 10 minutes. Steels, nonferrous metals, oils, chemicals and a number of leading rails joined the advance.

Wall Streeters said the rise was primarily a continuation of Monday's rally by aircraft-missile shares on news of Russia's second space satellite. President Eisenhower's decision to advance his speech on America's science and security by almost a week underlined the feeling in financial quarters that the administration would step up its defense spending in view of the Russian success in missile work.

Ulster Troop 10 Joins Rifle Group

Troop 10, Explorer Scouts, sponsored by Ulster Hose Fire Company No. 5, Town of Ulster, has joined the Junior League of National Rifle Association under the direction of Ted Haines, official national rifle instructor, it was announced today.

This is part of the Scouting program by means of which the boys of Explorer groups can familiarize themselves with firearms and their use.

All drills will be held at the municipal auditorium rifle range from 7 to 8:15 p. m. each Thursday.

It is believed that later a rifle team may be formed and competitions held.

Howard Crego is president of the local branch of the National Rifle Association and William Harbig Jr., range officer.

At the present time the Explorer Scouts are participating in the program under the leadership of William Harbig Sr.

Pessimism About Oils Brings Sound Stocks Into Good Buying Range

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q—A. K. C. writes from Pennsylvania, "What is the matter with oil stocks? I have watched the prices of these shares decline and am tempted to invest in this medium. Would you advise this and if so, what stocks would you suggest?"

A—My belief is that there is nothing the matter with the oils that will interfere very long with their strong upward growth trend. The decline in these stocks from their last June highs recently measured 24% in terms of my American Oil Stock Index. In my opinion the drop has brought many of the best shares in this category into an attractive buying range. In simplest terms, pessimism as regards oil stocks has been the result of overproduction coupled with a somewhat lower demand for refined products than had been earlier anticipated. Overproduction was in good part the aftermath of the Suez crisis which brought an unprecedented demand from European buyers. When this dropped off, the oil industry for a time continued to build up inventories until supply and demand got out of balance. Pessimism as regards the oils was further aggravated by Russian sabre-rattling on behalf of Syria. The latter naturally brought some selling into the big internationals such as Gulf, Shell Transport and Socony.

OIL INDUSTRY POLICES ITSELF

Voluntary reduction of imports, asked by President Eisenhower, and a severe cut-back in allowances by the Texas R. R. Commission have temporarily depressed some stocks, but in the long run will be favorable to the industry as a whole. My own experience, however, leads me to believe that the industry will police itself, as it has done very effectively in the past. Standard Oil of New Jersey, the industry leader, cut refinery runs of Esso, its subsidiary, by 5% in the first half of this year and has continued this policy up to date. Other principal companies have pursued a similar course, as they generally do when Jersey Standard leads. I believe there is nothing now wrong with the industry that will not be alleviated by a normally cold winter.

SOME OIL STOCKS

SUGGESTED FOR PURCHASE

Among the international oils, I like Standard of New Jersey and Socony Mobil. Jersey is so well diversified geographically that it should be less vulnerable than others of its group to serious trouble in the Mideast. Socony has been trading recently at around 50 where the indicated yield is 5% and the price-earnings ratio is less than 10. I regard Socony as undervalued at that level, which represents a decline of 23% from its earlier peak. Both Shell Transport and Trading and Royal Dutch Petroleum, comprising the Royal Dutch group, appear to me to represent good value at current levels, some 30% below their highs for the year. Texas Co. is a worthwhile holding but the stock has recovered a good deal of its earlier drop and appears no more than fairly priced at present. Among domestic oils I like Phillips very much as a long-term growth issue. The stock has come down in price 30% from its peak level in January. This is a well-integrated oil and is in a particularly strong position in natural gas and petrochemicals. I wouldn't buy Phillips for near-term gains because the big convertible bond issue now outstanding poses a dilution threat to common share earnings. If you want an investment in a high-grade oil equity with considerable rebound possibilities I suggest Amerada, one of the best of the crude producers and an industrial favorite. Amerada sold at 147 1/2 not very long ago and could lately be purchased at 97. A good investment package would consist of a few shares of each of the above stocks and I believe this would work out very well for you, given a reasonable amount of time. The oil industry is very resilient and a good time to buy it is frequently when pessimism is carried too far, as I believe it to be at present.

(Send your investment questions to Mr. Roger E. Spear, c/o this paper.)

son Morhouse saw quite a different 1958. The Democratic defeat on the convention issue, he said, "is handwriting on the wall... for Mr. Harriman or whomever the Democrats nominate for governor."

He said the mayoral races were decided "primarily on local issues and personalities."

One Aye Setback

What worried Democrats about the convention defeat was that Harriman had plugged personally for its approval.

Not All Applause For Keating on Civil Rights Stand

By JAMES C. MUNN
WASHINGTON (AP)—The outspoken stand taken by Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, Rochester Republican, in support of civil rights has brought him pithy condemnation as well as applause.

Keating, who played a key role in House passage of last session of the compromise civil rights bill, followed that with a strong denunciation of Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas. Keating accused Faubus of precipitating the Little Rock school integration disorders.

Keating has been lambasted, in letters from all sections of the country, for his utterances in connection with the disorders. Some of the mail has bordered on the scurrilous.

Not Intimidated

The flood of unfriendly mail—still arriving in his office—hasn't had the effect of intimidating Keating. If anything, he is more determined than ever to champion the cause of civil rights.

The extent to which he has been attacked is illustrated by excerpts from some of the letters he has received.

From Philadelphia, for example, he was told: "The voices of reason must drown out your self-serving canards that now putify the air and invite further violence. It is time you quit pandering to these people and egging them to go to the polls and vote. . . ."

From Seattle: ". . . You evidence an ignorance of the provisions of the United States Constitution that would do no credit to a first-year high school student, or a lack of regard for that document that disqualifies you to hold any public office in the United States."

"You don't belong to Rochester. You should move to New York City, human cesspool of our inheritance. . . ."

Crackpot, He Says

And, from Cincinnati, Ohio: "You sound like a crackpot. You lousy politicians forced this unwarranted civil rights bill upon a free people. . . . and you were afraid to let the American people vote on such an important matter."

"You need not worry about that. . . . Because (in) the next congressional election all your socialists and Communist sympathizers are going to be sent home where you belong."

But not all the letters have been critical.

From Washington, Keating was told: "The long struggle. . . you have carried on will bring increasing results. Thank you for consistent and productive efforts."

Los Angeles: ". . . We wish to commend you and the President on your strong and uncompromising stand. . . and we stand behind you 100 per cent in your fight."

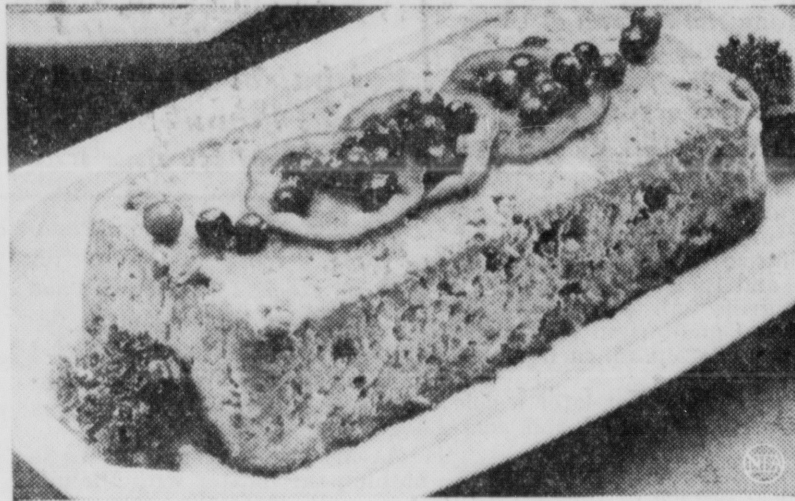

New York City: "Good for you for standing up for the power of the courts and the law of the land."

Many of the letters Keating has received from the south are so intemperate in their denunciations they are unfit to print.

The number of congratulatory messages from Dixie: None.

Geologists in western Kansas are studying fossil bones which they claim existed 60 million years ago when, they claim, the Niobrara Sea occupied a vast area of that state.

AMERICAN MENU Combine Turkey, Oysters For Post-Holiday Treat

LEFTOVER TURKEY need be no problem when combined with oysters and cranberries in this succulent loaf.

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Oregon grows cranberries and turkeys and Olympia oysters, all part of the traditional Thanksgiving feast. To that day-after-Thanksgiving question, "How shall we serve the leftover turkey?" Oregonians come up with an appetite tantalizing combination: Turkey-oyster-cranberry loaf.

Oregon Day - After - Thanksgiving Dinner: Turkey - oyster loaf, tossed green salad, oil and vinegar dressing, hot garlic bread, baked apples with filberts, coffee, tea, milk.

Turkey-Oyster Loaf

Six tablespoons butter, 1 large onion, finely chopped, 2 cups fresh cranberries, 1/2 cup water, 2 (7-ounce) cans oysters plus liquid or 1 1/2 cups oysters and 1/2 cup liquid, 4 cups ground cooked turkey, 3/4 cup (one envelope) instant, nonfat dry milk powder, 1/2 cup fine bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon sage, 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter in large skillet; add onions; saute until tender and transparent. Add cranberries, water, oysters and liquid. Cook over low heat, about 5 minutes. Combine turkey, instant nonfat dry milk powder, bread crumbs and seasonings; add oyster mixture; blend well. Press mixture firmly into greased 9x5x4-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes, or until loaf pulls away from sides of pan. Let stand about one minute before removing from pan.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Turkey - oyster - cranberry loaf, fresh vegetable salad, French dressing, crusty French bread, or rolls, butter or margarine, apple pie or baked apples with filbert nuts, coffee, tea, milk.

Deaths

By The Associated Press
SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Harry Atwell, 78, for many years photographer for Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, died yesterday. He started his career with Chicago newspapers and after leaving the circus founded his own studios to handle photography for circuses, carnivals and other forms of show business.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Victor L. Alski, 75, veteran Polish newspaper publisher and editor, died yesterday. He founded the Pittsburgh Polish Daily in 1920 and served as publisher and editor. The paper, now the Pittsburgher, has been a weekly for the last 10 years. He was born in Krakow, Poland.

HAIFA, Israel (AP)—Aviassaf Barnead, 54, Israeli composer, whose works included concertos for violin, cello and viola, died yesterday.

Smoke and Fire

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—When smoke comes, fire can't be far behind, a safety crew here learned. They were setting out warning flare pots on a roadwidening project when they smelled smoke. Fire was close behind, all right. One of the pots had tipped, igniting the rear of their truck.

The original name of Detroit was "Fort Ponchartrain du Detroit." That was when the French held it in 1701.

INFLUENZA

. . . . Influenza and influenza-like disease occurred in all parts of the country during the past week. It appears that epidemics are becoming less extensive or intensive in some of the Southern States but more so in many Northern States. The morbidity statistics on the entire United States are not available but a compilation has been made in 108 of the larger cities. Since September 1, 1957, there have been 2,517 deaths from influenza and pneumonia; this is compared to 1,825 deaths for the entire year of 1956.

. . . . As far as the vaccine is concerned, the demand by physicians and probably the public seems to be decreasing. Whether this is due to the fact that the vaccine is coming out in larger quantities or a feeling that the worst is over, we really do not know but it is important to realize that if this epidemic follows the same course as previous ones, the influenza will hit even harder in January and February, although Surgeon General Burney believes there will be increasing evidence for the "next eight or ten weeks" or until early January. It is our own personal feeling that vaccination is still in order and should be encouraged by the Pharmacist and Physician.

Reds Change Minds

VIENNA (AP)—Budapest's Communist city council today told the people of the Hungarian capital to decorate their homes with flags tomorrow to honor the 40th anniversary of the Soviet revolution and "display your love for the great Soviet people."

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A change of weather affects mankind. It always does.

One who loves people can develop a feeling toward the impact of weather on persons.

Sometimes it is good, sometimes bad. Sometimes it is hidden.

On me the effect of weather is obvious. The weather is a thing that gives me both an inspiration and a sense of duty. It does to most people.

Memorable Scene

On a visit to the far northwest I saw a couple of Douglas fir trees cut down. . . it was a memorable scene. They made an echo as they fell. As they fell down the hill they fell across my heart. All those years of living, even in a tree, must stir an echo.

But the individual death of a tree is not a personal thing, something not missed because you presumed its presence. . . and there came a day when you looked toward it for routine comfort. . . and it had gone. . . the shelter of the commonplace was no longer there, and the meadow held a mystery.

You look back. . . and the tree cut down holds the memory of something against the sky. Your eye remembers.

One tree against the forest? . . . it is so. . . how in autumn can a man know his way through the forest except by the trees?

In the colorful wilderness of their falling leaves he feels a kinship knit by their shedding and his eternal human renewal.

There is a feeling of time and timing in this world. . . on the bough. . . in the man.

And in the time of falling leaves a man can walk in the wood. . . admire the scarlet splendor of nature in its final flourish. . . see the fall of leaves that happy children will rake up with a shout in the age-old game beyond decay.

A man can endure the torment of autumn after autumn. . . the frigid repetitiveness of winter after winter. . . in the hope that he can enjoy again the fresh agony of spring, year . . . after year . . . after year.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—It isn't the Soviet flying dog that's worrying the stock market.

It's what the effect will be on business and consumer thinking:

1. Of the Russian boast of new sources of power for space rockets; 2. Its simultaneous withdrawal from the United Nations' disarmament talks; and 3. The dumping of Marshal Zhukov with its implication of one-man rule of Russia by a person whose emotional stability, judgment and sense of responsibility is questioned.

Sensitive to Threats

While it fervently hopes that peaceful counsel will prevail, American industry is always sensitive to talk of war, threats of war, or—worse—the chance of war. The widespread belief that business as a whole fattens on war doesn't hold water.

True, industries closely tied to defense production get government orders. To fill them the companies often must drop civilian production on which they say they have a chance of better profits.

For business as a whole, international disturbances even short of war threaten the cutting off of sources of materials, the loss of skilled workmen to defense plants or the armed forces, and usually sharply curtailed consumer spending, when the government moves to halt any war scare buying of the first days.

And the goods the defense plants turn out don't raise the nation's total wealth. They are made to be destroyed, not to be used.

Uncertainty Continues

But while the uncertainty continues, Wall Street will swing back and forth trying to guess what's in the cards for specific industries, which stand to lose and which to gain orders.

And corporate executives will debate in their conferences how their firm stands to come out in regard to supplies, to production schedules, to consumer demand. And merchants will watch to see whether the public is worried or indifferent or perhaps resigned.

That's how many business observers decode the beep-beeps from outer space.

Illegal Hobby

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP)—Police here have advised Raul Moreno to get another hobby. He was arrested after being observed letting the air out of an automobile tire. He explained he liked to stand by and watch the reaction of the car owners.

Confirmed by Scientists

Soviets Have Special Fuel for Satellites

By HAROLD K. MILKS

MOSCOW (U-P)—A Soviet scientist today confirmed previous hints that the Russians developed a new super-fuel for the Sputniks.

T. Khachaturov wrote in the transport ministry newspaper Gudok that "in order to reach the enormous speed of 8 kilometers per second it was necessary to produce new fuels for rockets."

The speed he mentioned would be 5 miles per second, or 18,000 miles per hour, about the speed of Sputnik I and slightly greater than the reported speed of Sputnik II.

Can Correct Deviation

Khachaturov also described what he called an "electronic brain which could correct any deviation in Sputnik's movement before it entered its orbit."

Soviet writers and scientists implied that the dog-passenger circling the earth encased in Sputnik II will die.

Moscow planetarium officials yesterday suggested the animal might be parachuted back to earth. The Russians may hope, however, to recover the dog's body for scientific study.

The implications that the female dog called Laika will be sacrificed to science were contained in articles on possible voyages to the moon.

May Celebrate on Moon

I. Isakov, a Stalin Prize winner in biological science, said in the Communist Youth newspaper that Soviet scientists may celebrate the 50th anniversary of the Communist revolution on the moon.

This prediction—less spectacular than that by some Soviet writers—indicated there still were many problems to be solved before man can be blasted into space with the hope of returning alive.

(Some scientists in the United States, including Clyde Tombaugh, discoverer of the planet Pluto, say the Russians already may have fired a rocket with the intention of landing it on the moon Thursday, the 40th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution. They estimated it would take about four days for a rocket to reach the moon.)

Prof. Yuri Khlebnikov, speaking on Moscow Radio's foreign service predicted Russian scientists would be able to send a rocket to the moon and back after a circuit of that body "before too long."

In the Communist Youth newspaper article, Isakov said, "We believe that in the next 5 or 10 years flights of humans into cosmic space, perhaps with landings on other planets of our sun's system will be a reality. Possibly the 50th anniversary of the great October Revolution will be celebrated on the moon just as we are now celebrating the 40th on our planet."

He said a long period of experimentation with animals as rocket passengers was first necessary in order to solve the problem of a safe return to earth through the atmosphere.

Irina Volk wrote in the Literary Gazette that the little shaggy dog "has become very popular and some foreign journalists have even invented a name for it."

"But in the laboratories this air traveler was more often called 'Laika' both for its breed and because it suits its character. (The name means 'The Barker')."

Trained to Ration Food

The writer outlined a number of measures to assure the dog's comfort aloft, including long training to ration its own food.

Before being lodged in her air-conditioned tenement in the rocket, the writer continued, Laika was given a "grand flying meal" brought from the air-drome kitchen, including soup, a second dish, and dessert.

The writer said "bigots and hypocrites" had been deploring the fate of the Soviet dog but had raised no similar outcry over animals used in other experiments, including those used at Bikini for U. S. atomic tests.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

In case anyone feels we do not get fast enough mail service today let's go back to 1800.

Gertrude Van Duyn Southworth wrote in her "The Story of The Empire State" put out by D. Appleton and Co. in 1920 a little about it.

Albany, she wrote, was the center of postal service. Every Wednesday and Saturday the "up-mail" arrived from New York, and two hours after it reached Albany the "down mail" was started off. Then the "up-mail" had to be distributed to the outlying towns. Once in two weeks, mail was carried on horseback way to the Genesee Valley. A letter could be sent some 30 miles for six cents, 60 miles for 10 cents, and 450 miles for 25 cents. It seems not too many letters were written on account of the high rate of postage, also paper cost so much that there were no envelopes. It became an "open letter" once it left the writer and everyone who handled it from start to finish, and able to read, would and did.

Many wrote at great length and detail all the news it was possible to gather and some letters no doubt were like little local newspapers. It was said that statesmen had to write their letters in cipher to keep the state secrets from reaching everyone before they arrived to their destination.

She covers Robert Fulton and his Clermont very briefly and calls him, "one American." She does not give the exact date of his trip, his time. She does describe the building of the Clermont and how Fulton in his own words came to watch and listen what others had to say about it.

Fulton's words were in part: "As I had occasion to pass daily to and from the building yard while my boat was in progress, I have often loitered unknown near the idle groups of strangers gathering in little circles, and heard various inquiries as to the object of the new vehicle." Words of scorn, sneer or ridicule were used by the "sidewalk sapientists." Loud laughs rose at Fulton's expense, mention of losses and expenditures. Nothing was heard but the endless repetition of "Fulton's Folly." "Never did a single encouraging remark, a bright hope, or a warm wish cross my path," Fulton wrote. "Silence itself was but politeness veiling its doubts or hiding its reproaches." Many of those had to eat their words later, and it is said, that they were not known to be kept from ever enjoying Fulton's Folly when it became a reality of steamers on the Hudson.

He further writes: I invited many friends to go on board to witness the first successful trip. Many of them did me the favor to attend as a matter of personal respect. I was well aware that the machinery was new and ill made and many parts constructed by mechanics new to such ideas. "His silent, sad and weary friends were in groups on the deck when the vessel was given the word to move. The vessel moved and then stopped." I could hear, Fulton wrote, "I told you it was so." Fulton went up on a platform and spoke to the assembly that if they gave him a half hour he would try and start it, and if it did not go, abandon the voyage for all time. He went below, made the proper adjustments as then only Fulton knew.

The boat started and so as I have said in a previous column, Robert Fulton took the wind out of sails for all times and no folks that day on the Hudson doubt took the wind out of those who called it "Fulton's Folly."

Unlucky Expert Doubled Again

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

The unlucky expert dashed to the door and blocked me off as I tried to escape into the night. When I saw that escape was impossible, I relaxed and listened to his tale of woe.

First came the bidding. His bids of one, two and four spades were all correct and a lucky player could probably have afforded to redouble when East doubled the final contract.

West opened the nine of diamonds. Dummy's jack lost 40 East's queen and East shifted to the queen of hearts. North's ace won the trick and the king and another spade were played. The story continued:

"East covered dummy's nine with the ten and I finessed but without much hope. The last time I made an important finesse must be five years back. Sure enough, West produced the queen and eventually I was down two tricks."

"Well," I said, "your bidding was beyond reproach, but your partner might well have dropped you at two spades. When your side bids a tough game you can't

"I don't always expect to bring it home," was the reply. "In fact I never seem to be able to bring it home. Furthermore, my opponents always seem to know it. That blankety-blank East only doubled because he knew that I was the declarer!"

And the Ford's new air suspension is power-controlled to level the car every time someone steps inside or luggage is loaded. It always keeps full road clearance. An extra cost option, you get all this at traditionally low Ford prices!

You'll steer with a feather touch with Ford's new Magic-Circle Steering. Nothing rolls like a ball, and that's the secret of Ford's handling ease. Free-moving steel balls in the steering mechanism are virtually friction-free—give you the closest thing yet to power steering! And this is just one of the many new "Inner Ford" advances you'll discover in the 58 Ford that's been proved around the world. Come in and see it for yourself!

State Election Story in Brief

GOP Edge Cut

ROCHESTER (AP)—The new Rochester city council will be made up of six Republicans and three Democrats. The Republicans had held an 8-1 majority before yesterday's election.

Five seats, all occupied by Republicans, were at stake, and two Democrats — Frank T. Lamb and Joseph Falvo — were among the winners.

Winning Republicans included Peter Barry, the present mayor. The council elects the mayor from its own ranks.

Retains Supervisors

BINGHAMTON (AP)—Broome County today remained under its board of supervisors form of government.

A referendum to set up a county president system was defeated at the polls yesterday by almost two to one.

The county Democratic party sponsored the referendum, which received backing from the Binghamton League of Women Voters and the governmental affairs committee of the greater Endicott chamber of commerce.

Broome County Republicans vigorously opposed it. The proposal would have established an executive branch separate from the legislative branch, with a president named to a four-year term in a general election.

GOP Takes Over

NEW YORK (AP)—Republicans have gained control of the board of supervisors in Rockland County, home of state Democratic chairman Michael Prendergast, for the first time in 10 years.

Control of the five-man board was won yesterday mainly through the victory of former County Clerk John W. Coyle over Democrat Irvin F. Dillon of West Nyack. Dillon had won six consecutive elections.

The New City Republican received 5,274 votes to 4,215 for Dillon. Milton Grant, Rockland GOP chairman, termed the result "a severe blow to Mr. Prendergast's prestige."

Democrats Gain

SYRACUSE (AP)—Democrats will hold six times as many seats on the 38-member Onondaga County board of supervisors as a result of yesterday's election.

The Democrats gained five seats including that held by the Republican board chairman. They had held only one seat.

Chairman Thomas H. Dyer lost to Democrat George P. Savage in the Town of Onondaga race. Four Democrats were elected in city of Syracuse wards, and two in towns.

First in 24 Years

WATERTOWN (AP)—Democrat George Ingelhart will be the first city judge of his party in 24 years. Ingelhart won a three year race for the six-year term yesterday. Republican Lewis G. Spicer Jr. was second in the voting and incumbent James Y. La Rue was third. La Rue ran as an independent after losing the Republican primary fight.

Rome Changes Setup

ROME (AP)—A city council favoring return of a mayor-council system of government has been elected at Rome.

The city adopted the manager form four years ago. Five candidates favoring a mayor and four in favor of retaining the manager were elected yesterday in non-partisan city voting.

Most of the new trains on U. S. railroads are made of chromium-nickel stainless steel.

Astronomer Sees Air Objects as Natural Mirages

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Harvard astronomer says mysterious objects reported from various parts of the country and the Gulf of Mexico are mirages stemming from natural causes.

Dr. Donald H. Menzel, director of the Harvard College observatory, said yesterday in Cambridge, Mass., that the whole thing amounts to "another flying saucer scare."

Sightings Probed

The Air Force has started an investigation of the reported sightings of the strange glowing objects in the sky. The Air Force for years has had the responsibility of checking reports of unidentified flying objects, but as one officer put it, "We don't investigate all of them."

A rash of such reports has developed since Sunday, with some of the sightings said to have been made near secret military installations in the southwest. Some of the persons making the reports said the objects caused their auto engines to stall and their radios to fade.

Object Tracked

Yesterday the Coast Guard cutter Sebago radioed from the Gulf of Mexico that an object resembling a brilliant planet with a high rate of speed was seen for about three seconds, and that it was tracked by radar.

Menzel said it is probable the cutter's crewmen got a false image "quite likely from bubbles of hot air in the atmosphere which would give a radar reflection." As for reports of the auto engines stalling, Menzel said "it would not be surprising that a nervous foot could stall an engine."

Menzel, author of a book about flying saucers, said he has been studying them for about 10 years and has yet to hear of one which could not be explained by natural phenomena.

Common in West

"They are caused by a layer of heated air... acting as a lens and forming an image of objects as much as 40 or 50 miles away," he said.

"They are nothing more than a mirage. They are prevalent just after nightfall as the heated air begins to cool off at the ground, and they are common in the west where they have clear air."

Esdaile, Wis., lies at the foot of an "S" shaped valley and is in a river dale. That is how the town got its name.

New Medical Development:

Calms Jittery Stomach Nerves, Relaxes Stomach Spasms, Relieves Nervous Indigestion!

Contains anti-spasm stomach medicine prescribed most by doctors. Proved so safe, it is now available without a doctor's prescription!

New York, N. Y. (Special)—Now science announces a new way to relieve tense nervous stomach spasms that accompany so many attacks of acid indigestion. This new development goes far beyond any usual stomach mints sold at candy counters. It not only sweetens the stomach and rids it of painful acid—but by direct action it relaxes and soothes the nerves throughout the digestive tract, both stomach and intestines.

Nervous "Lump" Vanishes

Stomach sufferers make such astonishing statements as, "That nervous 'lump' just seems to vanish!"—and, "I feel so relaxed and comfortable. No more butterflies in my stomach!" This new kind of relief is made possible by a special medicine that soothes stomach nerves—widely prescribed by doctors, now obtainable without prescription. Now for the first time it is available in SMOOTHOL®.

Complete Relief—Or Money Back

SMOOTHOL, a pleasant-tasting mint-flavored tablet, neutralizes painful excess acid on contact—relieves heartburn. What's more, SMOOTHOL has a soothing, coating action to protect the stomach lining against irritation. Further Court Action Is Seen On Indians' Bid WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department expects further court action in the next 10 days on the Seneca Indians' new attempt to halt construction of the proposed 101 million dollar flood control dam at Kinzua, Pa.

A department spokesman said a motion to dismiss the Indians' complaint has been filed in U. S. District Court here on grounds that it has no merit.

Dismissal Argument
The next step in the case, the spokesman said, would be argument before the court on the dismissal motion.

Congress this year approved a one million dollar appropriation to begin construction of the giant dam on the Allegheny River. The dam first was authorized under the flood control acts of 1937 and 1938.

The Indians, however, have asked an injunction to prevent the actual construction work. Much of their reservation across the New York border from the Warren County, Pa., site of the proposed dam would be inundated by a reservoir.

Not Claiming Land
In its motion to dismiss the complaint, the Justice Department maintains that the government is not claiming the land but merely taking part of it over by the right of eminent domain.

This right was upheld in a previous federal court decision at Buffalo, N. Y., the department spokesman contended.

He said treaties with the Indians are not comparable to treaties with foreign nations. Land granted to Indians, he said, is similar to that given homesteaders in that the government may reclaim it if it is needed for public purposes and the general good.

Saratoga Picks Same Sheriff Despite Reuter

SARATOGA SPRINGS (AP) — The Republican sheriff of Saratoga County remained in office today despite criticism by Gov. Harri-man's chief investigator that the sheriff had been negligent in investigating a slaying.

Sheriff Wesley DeVoe, a Republican, was re-elected to the office yesterday. However, his plurality was chopped to about 2,000. He won four years ago by 11,677.

Coroner Roland Faulkner, who had participated in the same investigation, was defeated in neighboring Schenectady County by Dr. John C. Sherman, Democratic and Liberal candidate. The vote was 37,463 to 24,430. Faulkner is a Republican.

The acting state investigation commissioner, Arthur L. Reuter, last month accused DeVoe of "serious neglect" in his investigation of the hanging death of 11-year-old Peter Curran at Ballston Lake last July 20.

Brownells to Live In New York Hotel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Outgoing Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. and his wife will leave Washington next week to go back to private life in New York City, Mrs. Brownell reported today.

And, with their family now grown up, they will substitute a New York hotel suite—"we don't know which one yet"—for the six-bedroom, five-bath home in which they have been living in northwest Washington.

Brownell resigned Oct. 23 saying he planned to return to private law practice. His successor, William P. Rogers, will be sworn in Friday.

Before coming to Washington in 1952, the Brownells lived in a private house in Gramercy Park, New York City. Mrs. Brownell said she and her husband decided to move into a hotel now because their four children currently come home "only for vacations."

"We had four children when we came here and now we have four adults," she explained.

The oldest Anglican church in Canada, St. Paul's, was erected at Halifax in 1750.

And everywhere you go—you travel in new comfort with Buick's Miracle Ride plus Air-Poise Suspension.*

So this is a car of truly exciting ideas for 1958—the Air Born B-58 Buick.

And you should see it and drive it at your Buick dealer's soon. Come on in today.

ALL IN ONE YEAR—

MR. AND MRS. DAYTON B. SHULTIS
(Pennington photo)

Karen Van Alstyne Weds Dayton B. Shultis In Double Ring Ceremony on November 2

Miss Karen Van Alstyne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester A. Van Alstyne of 182 Elmendorf Street, became the bride of Dayton B. Shultis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raye Shultis of Bears-ville on Saturday, Nov. 2 at 4 p. m. in Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Martin Dienst.

Mrs. Caroline Luedtke was at the organ. Soloist was Norman Luedtke.

White mums decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length lace gown posed over satin featuring a Sabrina neckline, long pointed lace sleeves with a wide lace border at the hemline and a very full tiered panel with back interest. Her crown of seed pearls held a fingertip length illusion veil of handrolled imported French tulle. For her bouquet she carried a cascade of white pompons centered with a white orchid.

Miss Anita L. Studt of 30 Derrenbacher Street was the maid of honor. She wore a Romance blue chiffon gown with tiny shirred sleeves, portrait neckline, shirred long torso bodice and a very bouffant floor length skirt. Her cap of matching tulle flowers held a halo veil. She carried a cascade of pale pink pompons and carnations.

Fred Schreiner of Wittenberg was the best man.

A reception was held at Judies' Restaurant immediately after the church ceremony.

The bride who attended Immanuel Lutheran Grade School and Public School No. 6, was graduated from Kingston High School, class of 1957. She is employed by Electrol, Inc., as a secretary.

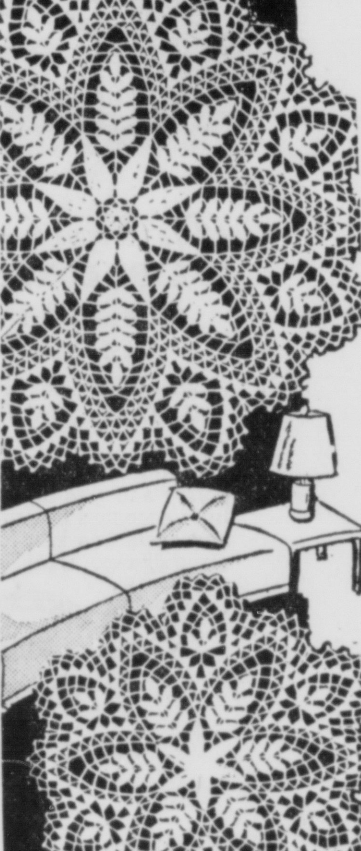

The bridegroom attended Bears-ville Grade School and Onondaga Central School. He is employed by Bernard Smith Excavating and Construction Company in Stony Hollow. For her wedding trip, the bride wore a gray suit with black accessories and a white orchid.

The couple plan to make their home in Bears-ville.

Dulles, Former HST Aides Meet

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles held an extraordinary meeting today with a half dozen men who were officials and foreign policy experts in the Truman administration. The purpose was to discuss plans and seek ideas for U. S. proposals to the North Atlantic summit meeting in Paris in December.

One of the group was Paul H. Nitze, who served as chief of the policy planning staff under Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Nitze is now associated with the Foreign Service Education Foundation.

The others included:

Pace on Hand

Frank Pace, budget director under President Truman and later Army secretary (1950-53). Pace is now with General Dynamics Corp.

William H. Draper Jr., under secretary of the Army in the Truman administration and special U. S. representative in Europe in 1952-53.

George W. Perkins, assistant secretary of state for Europe under the Truman administration who has more recently served in the Eisenhower administration as ambassador to NATO (1955-57).

Nelson A. Rockefeller, who has held a variety of jobs in Washington under both Republican and Democratic administrations, including appointments at the White House and State Department.

Charles M. Spafford who was U. S. ambassador at the NAGO council in 1950.

Ike to Head Group

President Eisenhower will head the American delegation to the Paris meeting. The major aim there will be to promote greater allied unity in the face of Soviet weapons advances which have narrowed the west's margin of security.

One specific proposal is expected to be a plan for creation of a network of intermediate range missiles bases within striking distance of Soviet targets. The United States would furnish the missiles.

Today's meeting at the State Department gave a bipartisan flavor to planning for the Paris session. It also indicated that Dulles is searching furiously for ideas that might be converted into practical plans for pulling the allied nations closer together and coordinating their military planning and production.

Dulles is reported aiming primarily at creating some new political organizations to try to insure more harmonious foreign policies—he wants to avoid the sort of split that developed in the Suez crisis last year. The best available information, however, is that he does not yet know how he wants to achieve such purposes.

In addition to the group of ex-officials of the Truman administration, those meeting with Dulles included Harold Stassen, President Eisenhower's chief disarmament adviser and negotiator, and John C. Hughes of the Chemical Bank & Trust Co., New York. Hughes was a special ambassador in Europe in the first year of the Eisenhower administration.

Syria is about the size of North Dakota. It has a population of four million people.

Dress Right—you can't afford not to Biologically speaking, man could be cataloged, according to the divisions and branches of the tree of life, like this: homo sapiens, hominid, anthropoid, primate, mammal, vertebrate, chordate, animal. This classification means that "the knowing man" is the only member of the animal family that has eyesight, large brains, hands that can grasp, and can stand upright, is warm blooded, has a spine or backbone and is living.

Satellites Hurt GOP, Some Feel

By JACK BELL
 A Political Reporter

Democrats swept most significant races yesterday in an off-year election interpreted as indicating a measure of dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration's military and domestic policies.

Democrats won the big ones by victories in the governor races in New Jersey and Virginia and in the re-election of Mayor Robert F. Wagner Jr. of New York City. Republicans held on to House seats in special elections in New Jersey and Pennsylvania in their only indication of stemming the Democratic tide.

Although none could assess accurately the political effect of the firing of two Soviet satellites, there was general opinion that admitted American setback contributed to what could only be regarded as a Democratic sweep.

People 'Worked Up'

It seemed apparent the Democrats had cashed in to some extent on what Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's Democratic leader, told reporters was the greatest indication he had ever received that the American people were "worked up" over an issue—the Russian ability to put satellites into space while the United States only talked about it.

Republicans had scant hopes of winning any significant test in yesterday's balloting. They faced an off-year election trend that usually goes against the party in control of the White House. But some GOP members had hoped their candidates might do better than they did.

Whether the rather extensive Democratic victory represented a trend that might be continued in the 1958 congressional elections was a matter of conjecture.

Domestically, the Eisenhower administration got an answer from Virginia to the President's action in sending federal troops into Little Rock, Ark., to enforce a federal court order for racial school integration.

Republican Theodore Roosevelt (Ted) Dalton was snowed under in the Virginia governor's race by former state atty. gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. Dalton polled 45 per cent of the vote in normally Democratic Virginia in his first try four years ago. He received less than 37 per cent yesterday.

Almond was backed vigorously by the state organization of Democratic Sen. Harry F. Byrd, who has called for "massive resistance" to school integration.

Dalton, who had Eisenhower's endorsement in the race, said this massive resistance to the Supreme Court's school opinion was likely instead to end in massive integration. He proposed what he called a more realistic plan for local assignment of pupils, saying it would comply with court orders while keeping schools largely separate. That wasn't enough for Virginia voters.

But in Little Rock itself candidates described by segregationists as potential race mixers won six of seven posts as city directors. The seventh seat was won by a man who did not file as an avowed segregationist, but was backed by the local citizens council.

In Connecticut, Democratic mayors ran into some trouble. In Stamford and Waterbury Republicans replaced Democrats. In Norwalk, a one-time socialist who ran as an independent ousted a Democratic mayor.

Another socialist, Mayor Jasper McLevy of Bridgeport, apparently came to the end of his political road. At 79 and after holding office since 1933, McLevy lost his job to a Democrat by less than 200 votes.

In Pennsylvania, Democrats rolled up big majorities in re-electing Democratic mayors David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh and John T. Hanlon of Scranton to unprecedented fourth terms. Lancaster elected a Democratic mayor for the first time in 23 years.

Republicans appeared to have lost a net of five mayors in a total of 23 contests.

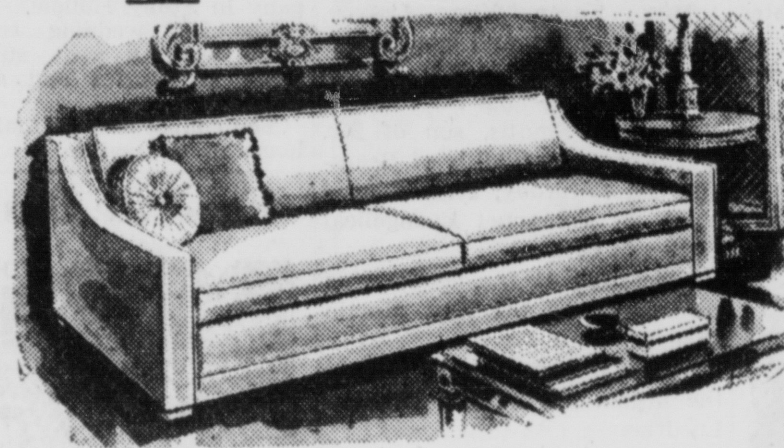

About the only balm for the Republicans was their retention of House seats in the 13th district of Pennsylvania, where state rep. John A. Lafore Jr. replaces Rep.

Samuel K. McConnell, resigned, and the second district of New Jersey, where Milton W. Glenn was chosen to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Rep. T. Millet Hand. Their victories brought the GOP House membership total to 201. Democrats hold 233 seats and there is one vacancy, previously filled by a Democrat. In Kentucky, Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler, an avowed candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, gained ground in his efforts to control the 1958 state legislative session.

Lost Keys

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—The maintenance engineer at the Harrison County Courthouse, Ernie Long, sometimes wonders if his memory is long or short. Long was one of six persons trapped in the elevator which got stuck between the first and second floor. After two hours, rescue workers finally found the keys to the elevator control box . . . in Long's pocket.

High Fine

HANCOCK, Md. (AP)—The $800 levied against Wilbur S. Brown of Paw Paw, W. Va., was one of the heaviest fines ever imposed in Washington County. Magistrate Edward T. Fost found Brown guilty of drunken driving, failure to stop after an accident, failure to keep to the right side of the road and driving on a revoked license.

Rubbish, Chimney Fires

Firemen were called at 2:05 p. m. Tuesday when it was reported heavy smoke and flames were coming from a chimney of the Stuyvesant Hotel, Fair Street. A check by firemen disclosed that the boiler was in need of cleaning. Engine 3 and Truck 2 from Wiltwyck Station responded. A call at 8:57 p. m. was for a rubbish fire on Thomas Street. Engine 1 from Central Station answered the call.

Giants Happy on Coast; $700,000 Already in Till

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—A torrent of ticket reservations—almost $700,000 worth already—is swamping the San Francisco Giants' front office.

"I've heard of such things happening in Milwaukee, but this beats anything I've ever had anything to do with," said Peter Hoffman, who has been with the National League organization 25 years.

Hoffman predicted the Giants would play to one and one-quarter million fans in their first season in San Francisco. To reach that figure, he said, an enlarged stadium still seating only 23,160, "will have to run at near capacity for all our 74 home dates."

Injuries Worry Colgate Coach

HAMILTON (AP)—Football Coach Fred Rice of Colgate still is worried about the condition of guard Bob Conklin and tackle Ralph Antonio.

They were injured last Saturday in the 53-7 pounding the Red Raiders took from Army.

Rice gave all of his regular linemen a second day of rest yesterday to recuperate from aches and bruises.

Kerhonkson '11' Moves Into Tie For UCAL Lead

Bill Smith exploded on three touchdown runs as Rondout Valley Central walloped New Paltz, 25-7, in an Election Day game at Kerhonkson.

By winning, Coach Chick Meehan's charges tied Onteora Central for first place in the UCAL. Both are 3-0 and play Saturday at Boiceville in the league finale with the title being at stake.

Smith, who scored 3 TDs against Cornwall just last Saturday, has now racked up 12 for the campaign in five games. Rondout has won all of these starts and along with Kingston and Onteora, is one of the teams with a perfect record in the entire Hudson Valley.

Yardage on Runs

The runs by Smith were for 55, 78 and 28 yards. The 55-yarder was on a punt return and forged Rondout in front to stay in the second period, 13-7. The one for 78 yards was on a draw play up the middle in the third period. The other TD by the fullback was scored in the final session.

The victors struck first in the opening session when quarterback Eddie Hannon hit end Bill Mustion with an 11-yard pass.

Art Meade scampered 55 yards to paydirt later in the period and Floyd Diedolf plunged over for the extra point to give the Huguenots their only lead of the game.

Wustrau Converts

Rondout's only extra point was accounted for by tackle Fred Wustrau who booted the ball through the uprights after Smith's first jaunt.

Rondout's defense throttled Diedolf, New Paltz's No. 1 scoring threat and kept him from crossing the goal line. Diedolf ran wild against Onteora Halloween night, scoring three TDs.

New Paltz wound up the UCAL season in third place with a .500 record of 2-2.

These experts who picked the Boston Celtics as the team to beat in the National Basketball Assn. are right — at least so far.

The Hawks moved into a first place tie with the Cincinnati Royals in the Western Division, both were a .500 percentage.

Yonkers Sets Futurity Dates

YONKERS, (AP)—Dates for the 1958 Quad Futurity, four races at Yonkers Raceway valued at $200,000, were set yesterday for four successive Tuesday nights in August.

The Yonkers meeting opens Aug. 1 when a $175,000 building program will have been completed.

Raceway officials said the $75,000 Yonkers Trot would be held Aug. 5, the $25,000 Hudson Filly Trot Aug. 12, the $25,000 Bronx Filly Race Aug. 19, and the $75,000 Cane Pace Aug. 26.

The four races all are over the mile and one-sixteenth distance, and 320 horses remain eligible from an original nomination list of more than 1,000.

Spurns Million For Colt Nadir

MIAMI (AP)—The trainer of the promising two-year-old colt Nadir said today a million dollar offer for the horse was turned down five days ago by Arthur B. Hancock, Jr.

Trainer Moody Jolley said the offer was made by Travis M. Kerr, Oklahoma oil man. Hancock, operator of Claiborne Farm at Paris, Ky., sold Kerr the three-year-old Round Table for a reported $175,000 with a 25 per cent interest retained for stud purposes.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hard-running Tom Wilson of the Los Angeles Rams and precision-passing Eddie LeBaron of the Washington Redskins continue to lead the National Football League in their respective specialties, league statistics showed today.

Wilson has gained 496 yards on 97 attempts for a 5.1 yard average. Hugh McElhenry of the San Francisco 49ers gained 29 yards on Wilson but still trails with an overall total of 419 yards on 88 carries for a 4.8 average.

Navy's Wellborn Named Top Back

By The Associated Press

Ray Wellborn, a substitute fullback on the Navy football team, figured in four touchdowns against Notre Dame last Saturday. One was scored by the opposition. But the three Wellborn tallied himself upset the Irish 20-6 and earned the 183-pound midshipman the designation as Associated Press Back of the Week.

It was a heart-breaker for Wellborn when he fumbled as he was tackled in the first period. Notre Dame's Dick Lynch grabbed the ball and scampered 46 yards for a touchdown.

But the 21-year-old Texan wasn't dismayed. He got that one back with a 79-yard touchdown run after taking a pitchout in the second quarter. He plunged for another score in the third, after going 44 yards on a screen pass from Tom Forrestal, and he collaborated on the same screen pass in the final quarter for 32 yards and the third Navy touchdown. In all he ran 10 times for 121 yards.

It was only the third varsity game Wellborn had started. Hampered by a leg injury, he was listed as a junior varsity player last season and after spring practice this year was rated third among Navy fullbacks. He finally earned the starting role after Dick Dagampat was injured.

Wellborn, a native of Houston, was a quarterback in high school and played halfback during his freshman year at Rice before entering the Naval Academy.

Michigan State Picked Over Notre Dame in Grid Forecast

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—Picking this week's college football winners on the back of a discarded ballot:

Texas A & M over Southern Methodist — The Mustangs now have their offense in high gear but they are headed for a stone wall here. John Crow to keep the Aggies as No. 1 in the land.

Oklahoma over Missouri — By comparative scores, this should be close. Playing at home may be a help for Missouri but the Oklahomans should cage the Tigers.

Auburn over Mississippi State — Only two touchdowns have been scored against Auburn all season. How can you beat them if you can't score against them?

Iowa over Minnesota — Minnesota has the power to spill the Iowans in this Cornbelt Classic.

Michigan State over Notre Dame — This is a must game for both. It couldn't possibly end in a tie, so the pick is Michigan State, with Walt Kowalczyk the hero.

Navy over Duke — The Midshipmen came of age in their Notre Dame victory.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech — The Volunteers believe in Bobby Gordon, who is starting to bloom at tailback.

Army over Utah — The Utes belt Colorado State, 55-0, last Saturday.

day. The Cadets trounced Colgate, 53-7. Army's Dave Bourland and Bob Anderson to keep rolling.

Michigan over Illinois — The advantage of playing at home not enough to pull the Illini through. The others in a hurry:

FRIDAY

Miami over Florida State

SATURDAY

EAST — Colgate over Bucknell, Dartmouth over Columbia, Brown over Cornell, Princeton over Harvard, Boston College over Boston University, Rutgers over Lafayette, Pittsburgh over West Virginia, Syracuse over Holy Cross.

MIDWEST — Detroit over Villanova, Cincinnati over Indiana, Nebraska over Iowa State, Kansas over Kansas State, Penn State over Marquette, Wisconsin over Northwestern, Ohio State over Purdue, Wyoming over Oklahoma State.

SOUTH — Alabama over Tulane, The Citadel over Presbyterian, Clemson over Maryland, Florida over Georgia, North Carolina over South Carolina, Vanderbilt over Kentucky, North Carolina State over William and Mary, Mississippi over Louisiana State.

SOUTHWEST — North Texas State over Chattanooga, Texas Tech over Tulsa, Texas over Baylor, Arizona State over Texas

Western, Arkansas over Rice.

Toronto Players Approve Assn.

TORONTO (AP)—Toronto Maple Leaf team members late last night voted unanimously to have the National Hockey League Players Assn. act as their bargaining agent.

The vote was something of a surprise, because the association has filed an application for certification as bargaining agent with the Ontario Labor Relations Board and some observers felt this might make a few players back out. The hearing on the application is set for Nov. 18.

SYRACUSE (NEA)—Syracuse went through 75 football games without attempting a field goal, but won the 76th from Pittsburgh with one.

Greaves Beaten
Giardello Wins Nod
DENVER (AP)—The only persons dissatisfied with Joey Giardello's 10-round unanimous decision over Wilf Greaves last night appeared to be some of the fans among the crowd of 4,425.

Many of the spectators started booing in the late rounds and gave their lungs a long workout at the end. The result kept intact Giardello's string of 15 fights without a defeat and gave him his ninth straight victory. It kept alive his hopes for a bout with champion Carmen Basilio.

Greaves, who's never been kay- oed in 23 fights, escaped a trip to the canvas again by dogging, dancing and clinching.

Giardello, No. 3 ranked middle-weight, weighed in at 160½, said in his dressing room afterwards that "Greaves is one tough kid. I hit him when I wanted with the left jab, but I never could land the right cross."

Greaves is a 21-year old Canadian fighting out of Pittsburgh. Giardello is a Brooklyn native who now lives in Rosedale, Long Island.

Giardello's record now is 81 victories, 10 losses and 4 draws. Greaves' is 14-8-1, and has never been knocked out.

Frick to Huddle On Coast Setup
NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick will meet here tomorrow with representatives of major and minor league organizations on problems arising from the big league shift to the West Coast.

In announcing the meeting, Frick made no mention of the question of compensation to the Pacific Coast League for the switch of the Giants to San Francisco and the Dodgers to Los Angeles. "Just a discussion of the reorganization of the Pacific Coast League and questions of realignment," said Frick.

Frick, failing to identify by name those who will attend tomorrow's meeting, said only that the PCL, the National Assn. (the minors' governing body), the Giants and the Dodgers will be represented.

Leslie O'Connor, PCL president, has announced, however, that he'll be at the meeting, accompanied by Clyde Perkins of the Portland Beavers and Dewey Soriano of the Seattle Club.

Macias 10-8 To Capture Bantam Title

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The international squabble over the bantam-weight championship of the world should be settled tonight when Alphonse Halimi of France and Raul (Raton) Macias of Mexico climb into the ring at Wrigley Field to fight 15 rounds or less.

Most boxing people think it will be less as these two hard punching 118-pounders — Macias the stylist and Halimi, a man with a small bomb in each glove—square off to end a dispute that has existed for almost four years in the division.

The bout is set for 7 p. m., Pacific Standard Time, and with a 300-mile radius of Los Angeles shut out, will be televised throughout the nation via ABC network.

Macias Favored
Macias rates as a 10-8 betting favorite to gain a clear claim to the title. He laid claim and recognition from the U. S. National Boxing Assn. (NBA) by knocking out Chamrern Songkitrat of Thailand in San Francisco March 9, 1955, in 11 rounds.

Halimi, the only time he traveled 15 rounds, outpointed Mario D'Agata of Italy in Paris April 1 of this year to win recognition by the World Boxing Championship Committee.

A crowd estimated at 20,000 is expected to pay a starting $200,000 or more to see the fight, if the weather is favorable.

Macias is the magnet and idol of countless thousands of Mexican nationals who have already swarmed across the border towns of California, Arizona and Texas to see the battle.

Mexican Broadcast
Arrangements have been made to broadcast the fight from ring-side direct to Mexico.

Whatever the turnout, the fighters are in for the biggest payday of their lives and the richest purses of the bantamweight division.

Halimi gets a $50,000 flat guarantee, which is some 20 million francs. Macias is guaranteed $30,000, or 360 thousand pesos, or a percentage of the gate on a sliding scale.

Macias, 23, has agreed to give the 25-year-old native of Algiers a return fight within 90 days in Paris if he wins.

Each fighter has lost but one professional fight. Since the Peacock disaster Macias has won 14 straight for a total of 31 wins. Halimi has won 20. Macias has knocked out 19 foes, Halimi 12.

Macias is 5 feet 4½ tall, Halimi

Saltwell replaces Spencer Harris at Fort Worth. Harris resigns to rejoin the Dodgers organization.

DeWitt Looms New Tribe GM

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians are looking for a successor to General Manager Hank Greenberg, and Bill De Witt, formerly of the St. Louis Browns, appears the likely candidate.

The 55-year-old De Witt has talked with Indians' officials and will undoubtedly be considered at a meeting of the executive committee of the Tribe's Board of Directors today.

"We will have no decision to announce, but if all goes well we may decide to call a board meeting at the earliest possible date," said William R. Daley, board chairman. The five-man executive committee will recommend their choice for Greenberg's job to the 13-man Board of Directors for approval.

Greenberg, who is one of the directors, was informed three weeks ago that his contract would not be renewed. Slipping attendance and the Indians' sixth-place finish were cited for the firing of the one-time home-run king.

Yale Regains 3 For Penn Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., (AP)—Yale expects to be at nearly full strength for its Ivy League football battle with Pennsylvania at Philadelphia Saturday.

The squad engaged in defensive drills yesterday after which Coach Jordan Oliver said that end Jack Pendexter, out since the Cornell game of Oct. 19, guard Larry Williams, injured two weeks ago, and halfback Dick Winkler, hurt last Saturday, will be available.

5-3, while the Frenchman has a longer reach, 66 inches to 64½, and a sturdier build.

Williams, Musial Lead All Star Team Balloting

NEW YORK (AP)—Batting champions Ted Williams and Stan Musial, five members of the world champion Milwaukee Braves and three from the New York Yankees today were named to the Associated Press Major League All-Star Team for 1957.

Redlegs Sign Johnny Riddle

CINCINNATI (AP)—Cincinnati Redleg officials today announced they have signed Johnny Riddle as a coach for next season.

Riddle, recently released as a coach by the Milwaukee Braves, will replace Frank McCormick, who was forced to retire by recurrence of an old back injury.

Riddle, 52, broke into the major leagues in 1930 with the Chicago White Sox and was a Redleg catcher in 1941 and 1944-45. His last playing year was 1948 with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

among 182 members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America, who participated in the AP poll. Williams, Boston's left fielder, was named on 160 ballots. Musial, St. Louis Cards' first baseman, received 158 votes.

The remainder of the squad was made up of second baseman Red Schoendienst, third baseman Ed Mathews, outfielder Hank Aaron and pitchers Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette of the Braves; and shortstop Gil McDougald, outfielder Mickey Mantle and catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees.

Williams, Mantle, Aaron and Berra were the only repeaters from last year.

Behind Williams and Musial in this year's balloting came Mathews with 154 votes, McDougald and Mantle with 137 each and Spahn with 115.

Five of the All-Stars batted higher than .300 during the regular campaign. Williams topped the American League with .388. Musial was first in the National with .351. Mantle finished with .365, Aaron .322 and Schoendienst .309. Mathews wound up at .292, McDougald .289 and Berra .251.

Spahn, with a 21-11 record, reached the 20-mark for the eighth time. Burdette won three World Series games after compiling a 17-9 season's slate.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Millions of people sit in front of television sets on Saturday afternoon and half see a college football game.

When it is concluded, they talk knowingly about what they really didn't see and are quick to howl if, as was written here, they are called free-loaders. Never got so many letters in my life.

Well, if the habitual TV watcher isn't a free-loader, he most certainly isn't a genuine fan. A sports fan is a person who contributes to this wonderful part of life by paying his own way into games. You find him in a seat at a college or professional game, getting the feel of it as part of the crowd. He goes to the baseball park. He likes a fight, so he rustles the price of a ticket and attends one. Sports—pro or amateur—couldn't survive without him.

TV watchers are free-loaders who sit home or in the neighborhood pub and half see an event, helping nobody as they do so. As a matter of fact, the TV watcher does immeasurable harm because he encourages advertising programs which keep people away.

AMONG OTHER THINGS, all bad, he is responsible for making popular figures out of shameless and irritating quick-talkers who gave themselves the fancy name of sportscasters.

Because these uniformed announcers are all they hear, the free-loaders regard them as experts. This despite the fact that a sportscaster has not asked a single pertinent and sensible question since the advent of the magic lantern. The way things are the announcers are little more than carefully controlled peddlers.

Professional football announcers and camera crews must adhere to the strictest regulations. There is a long list of don'ts. Camera crews are not permitted to focus on any fights which might break out during a game. The sportscaster does what Commissioner Bert Bell says or he doesn't have a job.

TELEVISION HAS PRACTICALLY KILLED minor league baseball and forced the switch of major league franchises. It put a number of colleges out of football. The NCAA made a frightful mistake when it permitted the televising of one knockout game each Saturday. This hurts all the others, encourages the free-loader to stay home.

"The Braves make each year roughly what the Dodgers did in televising all their games from Ebbets Field," says Lou Perini, who built his championship club after learning a lesson with television in Boston and will have no part of it in Milwaukee. "Which is healthier—turnaway crowds or television and a half-filled park?"

The answer is that Milwaukee's County Stadium already is virtually sold out for next season and the Dodgers are in Los Angeles. And unless something is done to get that TV free-loader back in the park, there will be a lot of other changes.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

When any sport becomes serious, it becomes scientific.

The skeet shooter begins to calculate leads with his trusty rule.

This is a lot of faldral, since it is axiomatic that the really skilled wingshot strikes his right forward allowance out of pure instinct, usually by letting a fast-swinging gun catch up with the target and go through it on the flight line, cutting loose just as his muzzle clears the bird so that the swing speed builds in an automatic lead.

Calculated lead dope, which is possible on the skeet field if nowhere else in clay target gunnery, can be helpful to beginners, however, or even to those who've gone into a slump.

Some Statistics

Research-minded gentlemen affiliated with the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers Institute have conjured up available as part of a free booklet a table of set leads.

Here they are:

STA.	HOUSE	LOW
1	1 1/2 ft. under	1 ft. ahead
2	1 1/2 ft. ahead	1 1/2 ft. ahead
3	3 ft. ahead	3 1/2 ft. ahead
4	3 ft. ahead	3 ft. ahead
5	3 1/2 ft. ahead	3 ft. ahead
6	1 1/2 ft. ahead	1 1/2 ft. ahead
7	1 ft. ahead	Point blank

These will work if you're a pokey shot, as most beginners are. They're correct in that since the skeet clays follow the same respective paths, and the shooters move around the eight-stations course, the amount the target will fly during the time it takes the hammer to fall, shell to go off and shot to travel out to the target at its usual range, this can be figured to a gnat's eyelash.

Aspirins No Help

But don't be surprised if in following such prescriptions you don't bust every target into dust. That high house incoming target you loaf on at station 6 is, by the time you get around to popping at it, dropping like a load of bricks so that the lead is below as well as ahead. And if you don't believe the outgoer from Station 5 isn't rising, just watch the boys miss.

Learning to make clean breaks on clays doesn't produce the kind of headache that can be banished by taking a couple of aspirin.

Straight Draw Cops Rich Melbourne Race

MELBOURNE (AP) — Straight Draw, a five-year-old bay gelding owned by Sydney newspaper publisher Ezra Norton, won the $33,000 Melbourne Cup yesterday before a crowd of 95,000.

Ridden by Noel McGrowdie, the son of Faux Tirage-Sunbridge raced the two miles in 3:24 2/5 to win by a neck from Prince Darius. Pandorus was third, 2 1/2 lengths behind Prince Darius.

Riepl, Koze Back With Penn Eleven

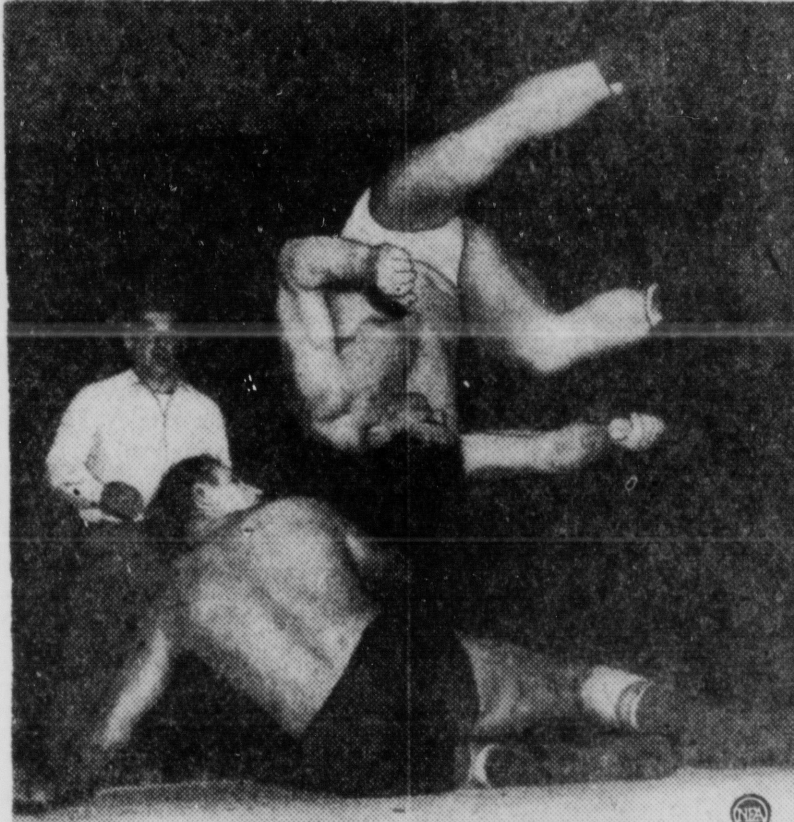

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When Penn meets Yale on Franklin Field Saturday the backfield unit will include Frank Riepl at quarterback and probably Dick Koze at right halfback for the first time since Penn's opening game.

Riepl has fully recovered from a broken foot and has taken over the signal calling job from Hal Musick and Tom Twitmyer who have been filling in during his absence. Riepl played eight minutes against Harvard last week.

The return of Koze to right halfback strengthens a position that has been weak all season.

Rangers Deadlock Canucks for Lead

DETROIT (AP) — The New York Rangers, for the first time in 16 years, hold a share of the National Hockey League lead.

The Rangers moved into a tie for first place last night after a 1-1 deadlock with the Detroit Red Wings. The Rangers share the lead with the high-flying Montreal Canadiens who have played only 11 games to 13 for the New York squad.

"This is the first time we've been in first place in 16 years," beamed Muzz Patrick, Ranger general manager who was a member of the last previous team to achieve that status—the championship team of 1941-42.

Red Wing Alex Delvecchio stole the puck in the far zone midway in the second period, legged 12 feet down the boards and whipped Hooper a 25-footer past Marcel Paille, New York's sub goalie, wiping out New York's early lead.

There were no other games in the HL last night.

Bayer's 69 Leads Coast Tourney

APPLE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — George Bayer shot a 3-under-par 68 to take the lead today in the $5,000 Lloyd Mangrum clambake golf tournament.

Bayer, of Dallas, capped his effort with an eagle 3 on the last hole. That put him one stroke ahead of Mike Souchak, Grossinger, N. Y., who shot 33, 36.

Tied for third at 70 were Ed (Porky) Oliver, Canton, Mass.; Bo Winninger, Odessa, Texas; Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; and Ernie Vossler, Midland, Tex. Mangrum, the host, finished with a 75.

Mahan Accepts International Bid

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Mahan, the horse with a cosmopolitan background befitting the event, will get another crack at the $100,000 Washington, D. C., International Monday. He only fished 10th two years ago.

Hasty House Farms accepted the invitation yesterday of the American selection board. With Christopher Cheney's Third Brother also carrying U. S. colors, it gave the Americans two entries against a six-horse foreign field, including three from France.

The English-bred Mahan was a French entry two years ago when he ran 10th in the 13-horse field over the mile and a half turf route.

The 6-year-old had perhaps his finest day when he beat the mighty Swaps last year in the Arch Ward Memorial Handicap at Washington Park. The Hasty House hustler has won only two of 10 races this year but one of them was in a determined stretch run while coping the $24,175 turf cup here last Saturday.

Jockey Samuel Boulmetis will be aboard him again for the International.

Mr. and Mrs. Allie E. Reuben, owners of Hasty House Farms, were invited to run Mahan after Round Table and Gallant Man were withdrawn from the International. Their owners decided to pit them instead against Dedicate and Bold Ruler in the $75,000-added Trenton Handicap at Garden State on Saturday.

Akins Declares He's the Champ

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Virgil Akins of St. Louis replied today to a request that he participate in a tournament to determine the new world welterweight champion with the statement that he was the champion of the 147-pound division.

The request was made in a telegram from Julius Helfand, chairman of the World Championship Committee of boxing. Akins wired this statement to Helfand:

"I am the champion of the welterweight division and I will fight any contender you or any other commission desires me to defend my title against. Thank you very much."

Akins recently scored a fourteenth round knockout victory over the then No. 1 challenger for the vacant title, Tony DeMarco, in DeMarco's home town of Boston.

Carmen Basilio vacated his welterweight title automatically by defeating Ray Robinson for the middleweight title in September.

Senate Group Seeking Action

U.S. Moonwatch Teams Look for 2nd Sputnik

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Moonwatch teams scanned the skies today in hopes of spotting Russia's second Sputnik. Meanwhile, a Senate group sought to spur U. S. efforts to catch up with the Soviets in the satellite-missiles fields.

Officials alerted 105 Moonwatch teams to turn out during daybreak hours when Sputnik II is expected to make three passes over the United States — one just off the east coast, a second in the mid-west and a third in the far west. Three more early morning passes are due tomorrow.

There was a report from Tokyo that Sputnik II is being preceded in its orbit by another object, so far unidentified.

Two Are Launched

Russia now has launched two space satellites. The most recent, which was fired aloft last Sunday, weighs more than half a ton and carries a small female dog—the world's first space traveler. The United States, according to current plans, will not fire its first small test spheres until next month. Launching of a fully instrumented American satellite is planned for March.

Amid the debate over the U. S. missile and satellite status, officials at the White Sands proving ground in New Mexico announced two types of the Navy Talos missile had been fired successfully at airborne targets.

The Defense Department said a New York engineering-architectural firm—Grad Urban & Seelye—had been chosen to plan a million dollar launching device for the Snark. The Snark is a jet-powered guided missile with intercontinental capabilities. It travels at sub-sonic speeds.

While political developments temporarily overshadowed the scientific aspects of Sputnik II, the huge satellite kept whirling around the globe at nearly 18,000 miles an hour in an orbit that takes it 1,000 miles out in space. And the first Russian satellite, a small sphere launched Oct. 4, kept up its round-and-round trips, although much attention had been diverted from it.

Sightings Reported

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory in Cambridge, Mass., said last night a number of sightings of Sputnik II had been reported from various parts of the world including Japan, Austria, California, Arizona, England, and Ecuador.

Whipple said Sputnik II appears to be about as bright as the rocket which carried Sputnik I into its orbit more than a month ago.

The scientist also said the observatory, which sent out the Moonwatch alert for possible sightings today, has not yet received enough observation reports to fix a really accurate orbit for the new satellite.

However, Whipple said computations made so far indicate that Sputnik II has speeded up its orbiting slightly and that it has been losing some altitude since its launching last Saturday.

Object Ahead
In Tokyo, the director of the Tokyo Astronomical Observatory said an object appears to be running ahead of Sputnik II. Prof. Masahito Miyagi said this object may be part of the rocket that launched the second satellite.

"It was observed over both Tokyo and Sendai today two minutes before the satellite appeared," Miyagi said.

Russian scientists have said the new satellite is the final stage of the carrier rocket. It had been assumed, therefore, that Sputnik II has no companion on its flight around the globe, as Sputnik I has.

From Britain and France came varying estimates of the cost to Russia of firing its satellites. The science editor of the London Star estimated it cost the Russians about 840 million dollars to send out Sputnik II. A French government official said usually reliable sources in Moscow pegged the cost of Sputnik I at more than one billion dollars, and nearly two billions for Sputnik II.

In Moscow, Russian scientists—flushed with Soviet successes—came up with exuberant forecasts of Russian rockets to the moon, to Mars and to Venus.

I. Isakov, a biological scientist, said he believed it possible the 50th anniversary of the Red revolution—10 years from now—"will be celebrated on the moon."

Prof. Yuri Khlebzevich predicted that Soviet scientists will be able to send a rocket around the moon and back "before too long."

Prof. V. V. Ponomarev said in the newspaper Soviet Aviation that Russian experts will shoot rockets to the moon, Mars and Venus. He did not indicate when he thought this would be.

OUTER SPACE CANINE—This picture from Red army newspaper Red Star in Moscow was identified by the newspaper as Laika, the female dog the Russians say is riding around in outer space as a passenger aboard Sputnik II. Russians say the name is also the breed of a dog native to the far north and is related to the larger husky and similar to the spitz or Pomeranian. The Laikas are noted for their endurance. Binghamton Fire Fatal to Mother And 4 Children

BINGHAMTON (AP) — A mother and four of her children, trapped in bedrooms, died early today in a fire that swept their home on the city's West Side. Five other members of the family escaped, one with a broken leg.

The bodies of Mrs. Margaret Dacey, 47, and Michael, 19, Robert, 6, Patricia, 12, and Mary Lou, 7, were found on the floor near bedroom windows. The mother was in one room, the children in another.

Can't Explain Escape

Three sons, William, 17, James, 15, and Thomas, 10, leaped from a second-floor window. Another daughter, Margaret, 16, fled down a rear stairway.

Mrs. Dacey's husband, J. Stewart, 47, was in a dazed condition and could not explain how he escaped. He caught James and Thomas as they jumped.

William landed on the ground and suffered a broken leg. Dacey and the surviving children were taken to Lourdes Hospital. All were suffering from shock.

Dacey's brother, the Rev. Michael Dacey, administered the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church, to his sister-in-law, nieces and nephews.

Dacey is a credit manager for a Binghamton furniture store. Fire Marshal Gerald O'Laughlin said the fire started shortly after 3 a. m. in the living room of the two-story frame house on Division St.

Cause Not Determined
The cause was not determined immediately. O'Laughlin said however, that he believed the fire had been smoldering in the living room for some time.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Ralph Gregory, who lives behind the Dacey home.

The fire spread quickly. Flames scorched a neighboring house, causing an estimated $2,000 damage to that dwelling. Nearby trees and a utility pole also caught fire. Acting Fire Chief John V. Neylan estimated the damage to the Dacey home at $15,000.

Democrat Is New Buffalo Mayor by 61 Vote Margin

BUFFALO (AP) — Former City Judge Frank A. Sedita, a Democrat, is the apparent winner of this city's mayoral election today by the margin of 61 votes—slimmest in Buffalo's history.

Complete but unofficial returns last night showed Sedita with 72,304 votes against his Republican rival's 72,243.

The Republican candidate, City Comptroller Chester A. Kowal, said he would await the official tabulation "with great interest."

Independent Hurts
Elmer Lux, former Democratic president of the Common Council, polled 45,465 votes as an independent. Observers felt it was the vote for Lux, evidently drawn from normally Republican quarters, that put Sedita ahead.

Clerical errors in permanent personal registration, new to Buffalo this year, turned up yesterday to complicate the election scene.

Over 700 registered voters, who discovered they were not on their district rolls, received special Supreme Court orders to vote. Legal aid was drafted on an emergency basis to handle the rush.

How many other voters who were turned away in their districts and did not bother to obtain a

Meyner Stock Up After Resounding Win Over Forbes

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner's national political stock hit a new high today after his resounding reelection victory over a Republican candidate who ran with President Eisenhower's full backing.

With 4,156 of New Jersey's 4,219 districts reported in yesterday's election, Meyner led state Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes 1,081,563 to 879,459.

Meyner received about 55 per cent of the vote and Forbes about 45 per cent.

55 PC of Vote

Meyner's plurality of 200,000 votes in a normally Republican state was sure to add to his stature as a possible Democratic presidential or vice presidential candidate in 1960. Only minutes after Forbes conceded defeat at 11:13 p. m., some GOP leaders were seeing national issues as a partial cause of Meyner's victory.

But even more surprising than the size of Meyner's plurality was a stunning Democratic sweep of the state assembly, which the Republicans have controlled for years. The Republicans held on to the state senate, but by a reduced margin.

About the only contest the GOP could view with cheer was the election of Milton W. Glenn as representative from the 2nd Congressional district, filling out the unexpired term of the late Republican Rep. T. Millet Hand.

Eke's Help Fails

Eisenhower's endorsement of Forbes at a news conference last week failed to transfer the 760,000-vote plurality the President racked up in New Jersey last year.

Meyner, who pitched much of his campaign appeal to Republicans and independents, managed to carry several GOP bastions. The governor himself said he campaigned solely on state issues, adding, "whatever outside political significance New Jersey's verdict may be deemed to have, I leave entirely to others."

Meyner noted that his campaign was conducted only by himself and fellow New Jerseyans. Several of Eisenhower's top aides, including Vice President Nixon, stumped the state for Forbes.

special order could not be learned. But their numbers were a factor which could have influenced the outcome.

Demolishes Myth
Sedita's apparent success demolished a myth that none but a Polish-American could be elected mayor of Buffalo. Sedita is of Italian extraction.

Mayor Steven Pankow, a Democrat, is Polish as is Kowal and Pankow's predecessor, former Mayor Joseph Mruk, a Republican.

Pankow was barred from seeking re-election to the 4-year post by the city charter.

The Democrats picked up an additional two seats on the 15-member common council. They now have a 9-6 margin. On the new council their margin will be 11-4.

President to Address U.S. Thursday Night On Science, Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee moved today to bring out any complacency remaining in the United States missile program as President Eisenhower hurried a report on the nation's progress.

Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas announced yesterday the Senate preparedness subcommittee he heads will launch a hard-hitting inquiry into the missile and satellite programs this month. Its purpose will be not to assess blame for delays, he said, but to help correct the "errors" he said have caused U. S. efforts in the rocketry field to lag behind those of Russia.

Plans Change Quickly

About the same time, the White House in a quick change of plans announced that Eisenhower will address the nation by television and radio Thursday night on "Science and Security." He had scheduled a speech on that subject a week later, Nov. 13, in Oklahoma City.

Eisenhower was expected to try to relieve anxiety and reply to criticisms that have developed since Russia launched the first earth satellite—since followed by a second—a month ago.

Johnson formally announced the expected probe at a news conference. He said a starting date and detailed procedures have not been worked out, but he forecast an early start.

He indicated the subcommittee will make public as much testimony as can be released without endangering security.

Avoids Laxity Charge

Although Johnson avoided any direct charge that Eisenhower administration officials had been lax about speeding up the satellite and missile programs, he said military experts have set some completion targets for 1961 and 1963 "when they ought to be talking about 1958 and 1959."

"We are lagging in both satellite and missile programs," he commented, "but there is no reason to believe we can't catch up if we apply the necessary will-power, manpower and money to the problems involved."

He said he was convinced of that after a lengthy Pentagon briefing Monday which he attended along with Sens. Russell (D-Ga.) and Bridges (R-NH). "In our opinion," he said, "ways must be found to speed up the program and convert some of the plans into concrete achievements at earlier dates than are now anticipated."

In this connection, Johnson told a news conference yesterday the preparedness subcommittee he heads is not going to accept the "papa knows best and everything's all right" attitude from anybody connected with the program.

Talk on CBS

Eisenhower's half-hour speech on Thursday will be carried live by CBS radio and television at 8 p. m. ABC-TV will carry a kinescope of it at 10:30 and NBC at 11:15. The other radio networks also will carry delayed broadcasts.

In announcing plans for the address, the White House said Eisenhower canceled his scheduled news conference today because he "will cover much of the same ground" in his address to the people as would be developed in press conference replies.

Mrs. Anne Wheaton, associate presidential news secretary, said Eisenhower will pick another subject for his Oklahoma City address a week hence. It is one of a number of such speeches he had announced he would make during the next several months.

The White House announcement said only that the Thursday speech will be "of major importance to the American people." It did not mention that the date coincides with the 40th anniversary of the Russian Communist revolution which is being celebrated lavishly in Moscow.

New Cut Made In School Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army announced today another heavy cut in the number of troops and federalized National Guardsmen on school integration duty at Little Rock, Ark.

Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said the decision to reduce the troop contingent there was based on "the steady improvement in community stability noted currently in Little Rock."

The Army said this second round of troop reductions will be carried out "forthwith," and that thereafter 225 troops of the first battle group of the 101st Airborne Division will remain. There are now about 500 regular Army soldiers in the Little Rock area.

The reduction also will apply to federalized National Guard units. The 153rd Infantry Regiment of the guard, now totaling about 1,800 on duty, will be reduced to about 900.

The Army started out with something over 1,000 regular troops in Little Rock. At the same time they were ordered in by President Eisenhower on Sept. 24, 10,500 National Guardsmen were ordered into federal service.

Caught Doubling Back

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Foot patrolman Joe Haines saw a motorist speed through a red light a block away; arrested Carroll T. Armstrong of Conneaut on a drunk driving charge a few minutes later when Armstrong came back toward him going the wrong way on a one-day street.

PLAN WATCHDOG PROGRAM—Although it didn't win, the Economy Party, happy about obtaining 22 per cent of the city vote although it is only 10 weeks old, plans on following a watchdog procedure over government at City

Gaillard Orders Top Priority to Algerian Trouble

PARIS (AP)—France's new premier today gave rebellious Algeria top priority in his legislative program.

Voted into office after the nation's longest postwar cabinet crisis, Felix Gaillard told the National Assembly he would demand adoption of the Algerian home rule bill on which the last government of Maurice Bourges-Maunoury founded Sept. 30. But Gaillard said he would accept amendments to give greater weight to the votes of French residents.

That might appease the French in Algeria. However, it appeared likely the Arab rebels would reject Gaillard's bill, just as they did Bourges-Maunoury's. The rebels demand independence.

The 38-year-old financial expert, youngest French government chief since Napoleon Bonaparte, said the second order of business would be to ease the grave financial crisis. He promised a strict 1958 budget and 100 billion francs (238 million dollars) in new taxes, and said he would ask for special financial powers, presumably to cut expenses by decree.

15 Persons Die As Plane Crashes On Test Flight

BRISTOL, England (AP)—A Turboprop Britannia airliner, pride of Britain's commercial aviation, crashed in flames today on a test flight killing all 15 aboard.

The big four-engine plane took off from the Bristol Aviation Co. field and plummeted into a belt of woods near the plant.

The plane, the first prototype of the "Mark 300" Britannia series, carried 15 crewmen and technicians. It had been used for tests since it was turned out by the Bristol plant last year.
